

PEWAUKEE HAS ITS SENSATION

Little Town Is Divided On The Question Of The Pretty School Teacher.

SCHOOL BOARD WAS OPENLY DEFIED

Banished From The Public Schools She Opens A Private School With Large Attendance—Two Factions Who Do Not Speak.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Pewaukee, Wis., Dec. 2.—One girl, and not a very big one either, has set this village by the ears.
Her name is Helen Roberts; she is only twenty-two years old and has taught school but six weeks in that town.
She has almost upset the village high school, has divided the village

THIRTY OR FORTY ARE IN THE MINE

Disaster at the Naomi Mine Has Not Yet Been Fully Determined Upon.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Pittsburgh, Dec. 2.—The exact number of men entombed in the Naomi mine of the United Coal company, near Fayette City, Pa., or their condition has not yet become known. Still about thirty and forty men are said to have been caught by the explosion last night.

ELEVEN PERISH IN THE FREEMONT SHAFT

Smoke and Fire Still Pouring Out of the Mouth of the Shaft.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Drytown, Calif., Dec. 2.—With the smoke still pouring from the shaft of the Freemont mine, all hope for the eleven miners who were entombed Saturday, has virtually abandoned. All are believed to have perished.

POPULISTS FIRST TO ISSUE THEIR CALL

Name April 2nd and St. Louis as Time and Place of Their National Convention.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Joliet, Ill., Dec. 2.—Chairman J. H. Forrester, of the populist national committee, issued today for a populist national convention to be held in St. Louis on April 2nd, for the purpose of nominating candidates for president and vice-president.

HORNE'S VICTIM IS DEAD FROM WOUNDS

Managing Editor of The Kansas City
Post Succumbs After Much Suffering.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 2.—H. J. Groves, managing editor of the Kansas City Post, who was wounded November 23rd, by General Richard Horne, died today.

"Drys" After Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Dec. 2.—Wyoming may be the next state to feel the force of the flood of prohibition sentiment that has recently swept over a large section of the country with such remarkable results. At the annual convention of the Wyoming Anti-Saloon league which began here today plans will be discussed for putting a curb on the liquor traffic in this state, with a view to its total suppression at a later date. The sessions are being held at the First Methodist church. A program covering two days has been arranged, and among the speakers will be some of the most prominent church workers, business and professional men of Wyoming.

PORTION OF FLEET OFF FOR PACIFIC

Torpedo Boat Destroyers Start for the Pacific Ocean This Morning—Around the Horn.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Norfolk, Va., Dec. 2.—The United States torpedo boat destroyers Whipple, Truxtun, Lawrence, Hull, Hopkins and Stewart left Hampton Roads today on the long trip to Pacific coast.

REFUSE PETITIONS IN HARTJE DIVORCE

Supreme Court Refuses to Grant Request of Husband that Case Be Re-Opened.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 2.—The superior court today refused the petition of F. Augustus Hartje, of Pittsburgh, for a re-argument in his suit for divorce from his wife, Mary Scott Hartje.

EDGERTON SALOON CASE IS UP TODAY

Settlement Apparently Reached In Rock County Telephone Compensation Action—Divorce Granted.
Before Judge Grimm in circuit court this afternoon the writ of certiorari proceeding brought by certain citizens of Edgerton to review the proceedings of the common council in granting a saloon license to George Lynta, is being argued by Atty. A. J. Matheson for the petitioners, and Atty. M. O. Mount and William Smith for the defendants. In his opening statement of the case Atty. Matheson made the following statements: That about June 1, certain residents of Edgerton filed a petition with the council requesting that a license to open a saloon at a certain described place be not granted to the said Lynta; that at the regular meeting on June 4 this petition was received and a resolution to limit the number of saloon licenses for the year to the number then in force, namely 10; that at the next regular meeting on the 18th of June the council received 11 applications and voted to set on the 19th the application last; that the 11 licenses were granted before the one from Lynta came up for consideration; that on June 20 Mayor Ladd called a special meeting for the purpose of reconsidering the former action of limiting the number of licenses to 10, and for the purpose of considering the application of the said Lynta; that the vote was 3 to 3 and the mayor cast the deciding vote in favor of the extra license; that the license issued to Lynta was dated June 23, whereas the bond filed by him bore the date of June 23; that this bond, the stipulated duration of one year of the license, and the procedure of the council, were all irregular. It was expected that the case would take up most of the afternoon.

Divorce Granted.
Earlier in the afternoon Mrs. Nellie H. Pollock, of Beloit, secured a decree of divorce from her husband, Leon W. Pollock, on the grounds of desertion and non-support. Atty. T. D. Woolsey represented the plaintiff and Atty. Cornelius Buckley, the defendant. The plaintiff in the case was given the right to resume her maiden name of Nellie Ripley. She said on the stand that her husband had no particularly bad habits except selfishness and that she had to support him most of the time when he lived with her.

Phono Co. Case Settled.

The action of certain owners of property abutting on the Hayes block alley to compel the Rock County Telephone Co. to pay tribute for running its wire conduit through the said thoroughfare, has been settled again, this time it is hoped for good—though the papers have not been signed. The phone company first brought an action to condemn. Commissioners were appointed and awarded the lot owners certain compensatory damages. The owners were dissatisfied and appealed from the award. In the most recent phase of the case, Judge E. H. Stevens of Madison gave the phone company permission to file an affidavit of nonliability to the damages which had been fixed, and ordered that now testimony be taken. It was at this juncture that a private settlement, apparently satisfactory to all concerned, was reached. The property owners concerned were: William and Charles Conrad, Mary M. Stevens, L. M. Hostwick, Samuel Henderson, and Clara N. Jenkins.

Important Case Comes Up.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 21.—Among the important cases on the calendar of the United States supreme court for hearing today is the case involving the constitutionality of the Volstead law requiring corporations doing business in the state to produce their books and records whenever required by legal procedure.
The case grew out of the refusal of the Consolidated Rendering Co., a Maine corporation doing business in Vermont, to produce its records that the grand jury of Chittenden county, Vermont, might be informed as to whether the state cattle commissioner had sold diseased meat for food purposes.
Gave Luncheon: Mrs. Charles Decker and Mrs. Charles Wright entertained seventy-five ladies at a luncheon given at the Wright home on Milton avenue Saturday.

DECEMBER BEGINNINGS.

FLEET OF DESTROYERS IS READY TO START

Fleetilla Congregates at Hampton Roads Ready to Begin Long Voyage Around the Horn.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—The fleet of torpedo-boat destroyers, which is going to the Pacific coast in advance of the fleet of battleships, assembled in Hampton Roads today preparatory to starting on the first leg of the long cruise. The first stop will be at San Juan, Porto Rico, which will be reached next Saturday. The fleet will then stop in at the following ports, in the order named: Trinidad, arriving December 15; Para, December 20; Pernambuco, January 5; Rio de Janeiro, January 15; Montevideo, January 25; Punta Arenas, February 5; Valparaiso, February 20; Callao, March 4; Panama, March 9; Acapulco, March 28; Magdalena Bay, April 2, a total distance of 14,081 miles.
The fleet consists of the Lawrence, Hopkins, Truxtun, Stewart, Whipple and Hull. Lieutenant Hatch I. Cono, a young southerner who is much experienced in the handling of torpedo craft, will be commander-in-chief of the fleet. The little vessels will be conveyed by the collier Arcadia, which has been fitted out for the cruise for a month past. The boats will probably be engaged in target practice at Magdalena Bay for a few weeks after arrival, and will then proceed to San Francisco. On their arrival at San Francisco they will probably be added permanently to the torpedo fleet now on active duty on the Pacific coast.

ROOSEVELT WEDDING ANNIVERSARY TODAY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—Today was the twenty-first wedding anniversary of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. Beyond the exchange of presents among the members of the family and the receipt of a number of congratulations from intimate friends there was no observance of the day. The wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt took place December 2, 1886, in St. George's Church in Hanover Square, London.

THREE KILLED WHEN THE WRECK OCCURRED

Smash-Up on The Baltimore and Ohio —Many Passengers Were Slightly Hurt.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Baltimore, Dec. 2.—In a wreck on the Baltimore and Ohio at Shennado Junction, this morning, three passengers were killed and a dozen injured.

CLOSING ARGUMENTS IN BRADLEY CASE

Attorneys for Prosecution and Defense
Fill Up the Day's Court Work.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—Both the defense and prosecution made their closing arguments today before the jury in the trial of Mrs. Bradley for the murder of former Senator Brown. Judge Powers, the senior counsel, Attorney Hoover for the defense, opened the morning session, District Attorney Baker following during the afternoon.

SIXTIETH CONGRESS CONVENED AT NOON

Occasion of Few Interesting Developments. Complete Organization Necessary in House.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—The first session of the Sixtieth congress convened at twelve o'clock. Vice President Fairbanks called the senate to order, while the house was called to order by Clerk McElwain.
The opening day never develops much of interest to those used to attending the sessions of congress, but on other days some greater charm for the average citizen. Today was not an exception to the rule, as the corridors were not without visitors even before senators and representatives had begun to arrive, and there was a marked increase in the day advanced. The members began to arrive early, and there were many cordial greetings in the corridors and on the floors.
In the house greater interest attached to the proceedings because complete organization was necessary. This included the drawing of seats by the members.
Despite the fact that a number of the familiar faces were missing, including the veterans Morgan and Pettit of Alabama, it was a familiar scene when Vice-President Fairbanks called the senate to order with two strokes of the gavel. The hum of voices ceased when the vice president pounded and Chaplain Edward Everett Hale made the prayer. In the audience were the families of many senators and men in public life. There were also several members of the diplomatic corps present.
At ten o'clock the president's message will be received and read in both houses.

TEST FEDERAL POWER AS AGAINST STATE'S

Question Arising in Minnesota Courts
Over Railroad Regulation Comes Before Supreme Court.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 2.—No case of more momentous importance has come before the United States supreme court in a long time than the so-called "Minnesota content" test case, which came up for hearing today. The case involves the question of federal and state conflict over railroad regulation. In the recent past has caused sensational clashes of judicial authority, notably in some of the southern states.
The question directly involved is as to whether the United States circuit court exercised its jurisdiction when it held Attorney General Young of Minnesota in contempt for violating its injunction against enforcing the state law regulating commodity rates, imposed a fine of $100 and ordered the attorney general into the custody of the United States marshal until the state suits he had begun were dismissed.

FORMER PRESIDENT DIES AT HIS HOME IN WHITEWATER

Judge C. R. Gibbs Lived Here in the Late Fifties.
Whitewater, Wis., Dec. 2.—Judge C. R. Gibbs of this city, aged ninety-four years, is dead. He located at Janesville about 1855 and became a member of the law firm of Cassady, Bennett & Gibbs. In 1863 he moved to a farm near Whitewater where he gave much attention to raising of blooded stock. He is survived by a wife and one daughter.
Read the want ads.

SANITATION MEETING AT CITY OF MEXICO

Program Will Include Papers and Discussions on Epidemic and Other Diseases.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
City of Mexico, Dec. 2.—The International Sanitary Congress began its sessions in this city today with delegates present from the United States, Mexico and many of the Central and South American countries. The delegates from the United States are headed by Surgeon General Walter Wyman, U. S. A., and includes among its members Major Paul F. Straub, U. S. A., Dr. Charles Harrington, secretary of the Massachusetts board of health; Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, commissioner of health of Pennsylvania; Dr. A. H. Daly, quarantine officer of the port of New York; Dr. W. G. Owen, vice president of the Louisiana state board of health; Dr. Rhett Goode, member of the industrial sanitary bureau; Dr. L. E. Johnson, trustee of the American Medical association, and Passed Assistant Surgeon R. H. von Kester of the public health and marine hospital service.
An interesting program has been prepared for the congress which will continue its sessions through the entire week. Papers will be read on epidemic diseases, such as bubonic plague, yellow fever, malaria, cholera, beriberi and trachoma. The best measures and methods for the extinction of these diseases will be discussed. An exhaustive report will be made on the sanitary condition of the several parts of the different countries. Reports will be made of prospective sanitary improvements, such as sewer systems, drainage works, etc. In the different offices, States will be taken toward establishing a bureau of sanitary information at Montevideo. This bureau will work in conjunction with the international sanitary bureau, established at Washington, and the international sanitary bureau, which has its headquarters in Paris.

CANNON'S ELECTION WAS MERELY A FORM

Had a Total of 207 Votes to 164 for John Sharp Williams, the Democratic Nominee.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, Dec. 2.—Joseph Cannon, of Illinois, was elected speaker of the house by a vote of 207 over John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi, who had 164 democratic votes.

HAY'S SENTENCE IS MADE FOR LIFE

Former American Professor Is Rerieved From Death and Given Life Term.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Karlsruhe, Dec. 2.—The death sentence upon Karl Hay, former professor in George Washington university, Washington, D. C., for the murder of his mother-in-law, has been commuted to life imprisonment.

Austrian Emperor's Anniversary.

Vienna, Dec. 2.—Throughout the dual monarchy there were great rejoicings today in celebration of the anniversary of the accession of Emperor Francis Joseph. The aged ruler who was believed to be near death a few months ago, has now recovered his usual health and has resumed his regular routine of arduous work in behalf of the empire and its people.

KNOX AND ONE OF HIS BOOSTERS

MEETINGS CLOSED SUNDAY EVENING

Conference of the Boys of the Y. M. C. A. Was Completed Sunday Evening.
With the farrowest meeting for delegates only, held at the Y. M. C. A. building last evening the Boy's Y. M. C. A. conference came to an end. The meeting was in charge of Roy Crosby of this city and president of the conference, and all of the delegates took part by giving their ideas as to the helpfulness of the conference and their suggestions for the work among the boys of this country by the Y. M. C. A. The farrowest address was delivered by A. E. Milne, chairman state Boy's Work committee. The various committees appointed at the beginning of the conference also made their reports.
Saturday afternoon, after the meeting at the Carroll Memorial church was over, an athletic meet was held at the Y. M. C. A. building in the auditorium. The events were three in number—25-yard dash, 12-pound short put and running broad jump, followed by a basketball game between the intermediate team of the local Y. M. C. A. and an all star team picked from the visitors. The results were as follows:
25-yard dash—H. Cunningham, Janesville; E. Strang, Janesville; H. Barger, Beloit.
12-pound short put—H. Barger, Beloit; Leo Woodworth, Janesville; H. Cunningham, Janesville.
Running broad jump—H. Barger, Beloit; G. Markel, Beloit; H. Cunningham, Janesville.
Final score—Janesville 13 points; Beloit 14 points.
In the basketball game the local team defeated the all star team by a score of 81 to 4.
Saturday evening F. A. Crosby addressed the conference on "What the Boys of America are Doing." This was followed by an address entitled "Tomorrow," delivered by F. A. Anderson, state secretary. Sunday afternoon C. J. Newman gave an evangelistic talk which was very well enjoyed by the delegates. Mr. Newman was for a long time on the staff of the Chicago Record-Herald and when McCutcheon took his eastern trip Newman took his place.
Several local pupils were occupied yesterday by Y. M. C. A. workers who were here at the conference. F. A. Anderson, state secretary, preached at the Carroll Memorial church, Charles Fuller at the Presbyterian church, and F. A. Crosby at the Baptist church in the morning, and C. J. Newman in the evening gave a talk at the Baptist church.

JANESVILLE MAN IS ELECTED AN OFFICER

W. W. Dale Chosen as Corresponding Secretary of the Wisconsin Commercial, Educational, Asso'n.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Oshkosh, Wis., Dec. 2.—The Wisconsin Commercial Educational association, at its closing session, Saturday, decided to go to Milwaukee for its convention next year. It will be held at the time of the State Teachers' convention in order that mutual benefit may result. The following officers were elected: President, M. E. Morgan, De Pere; vice-president, E. P. Quintall, Green Bay; recording secretary, W. W. Dale, Janesville; corresponding secretary, Miss Clara R. Townsend, Oshkosh; treasurer, W. D. McDaniel, Oshkosh. Mr. Morgan, the president, was secretary last year. Resolutions were adopted expressing appreciation for the address given by Robert C. Spencer, of Milwaukee, and for his devotion to the interests of business colleges and education at large during the last half century.

THE FIRST ANNUAL MEETING IS CALLED

Call is issued for First Meeting of Janesville Park and Pleasure Drive Association.
This evening at eight o'clock the first annual meeting and election of officers of the Janesville Park and Pleasure Drive association will be held in the assembly room of the city hall. The charter and other requirements to perfect the organization have been received and the work of actually beginning work on the proposed system of drive and parks will be mapped out at tonight's session. All of the incorporators are requested to be present.

JANUARY SIXTH IS THE DATE NOW FIXED

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
New York, Dec. 2.—The second trial of Mrs. J. E. White, on the charge of killing Stanford White, was today postponed until January 6th.
MARKET REPORT
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Chicago, Dec. 2.—Cattle receipts, 35,000; market steady; hogs, $2.25@2.65; cows and heifers, $1.15@2.40; western, $2.10@2.15; calves, $5.00@7.00.
Hog receipts, 30,000; market 5 to 10c higher; light, $4.55@5.05; heavy, $4.55@5.05; mixed, $4.55@5.05; pigs, $3.80@4.75; bulk of sales, $4.00@5.00.
Sheep receipts, 28,000; market steady; western, $2.00@2.50; natives, $2.00@2.50; lambs, $2.50@3.40.
Wheat—December, 94 1/2c; closing, 95 1/2c bid; May, opening, $1.02 1/2@1.03 1/2; high, $1.03 1/2; low, $1.02 1/2; closing, $1.02 asked.
Corn—Closing, 80c.
Barley—Closing, $1.00@1.01.
Oats—Dec., 54 1/2c; May, 55 1/2c.
Onions—Closing, Dec., 40 1/2c; May, 51c.
Poultry—Live, 90c; turkeys, 11c; chickens, 80c; spring, 90c.
Butter—Steady; creamery, 19@20c; dairy, 12@25 1/2c.
Eggs—20@25 1/2c.

JANESVILLE MARKETS.

Janesville, Nov. 30.
Ear corn: old—$1.18; new—$1.10.
Rye—75c for 60 lbs.
Hay—60c.
Onions—47@50c.
Feed—Corn and oats, $30@31 per ton.
Standard middlings—$26 per ton.
Bran—$26 per ton.
Oil Meal—$1.85@1.95 per cwt.
Corn Meal—$2.30@3.30 per ton.
Hay—$11@12 per ton.
Straw—Baled, $6.00@7.00 per ton.
Creamery Butter—27 1/2c per lb.
Dairy Butter—27@28 1/2c per lb.
New Potatoes—45@50c per bu.
Eggs—21@22c.
Chickens—25c.
Butter—On the board of trade today butter was quoted at 27c firm.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

Thos. H. Nolan. H. W. Adams.
C. W. Reeder.
NOLAN, ADAMS & REEDER
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
311-313 Jackson Bldg., Janesville, Wis.
306-308 Goodwin Building, Deloit, Wis.

E. D. McGOWAN,
A. M. FISHER,
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELORS
1309-310 Jackson Bldg.,
Janesville, Wis. New Phone, 163.

DR. FREDERICK C. LINDSTROM
OSTEOPATH
Suite 322-23 Hayes Block, 311-313
Rock Co. phone 123. Wis. phone 2114.
Janesville, Wis.
Licensed by Wisconsin Board of Medical Examiners.

Edwin F. Carpenter
Henry F. Carpenter
CARPENTER & CARPENTER
LAWYERS
Carpenter Block, Janesville, Wis.
New Phone 575.

J. J. CUNNINGHAM,
LAWYER
No. 215 Hayes Block
JANESVILLE WISCONSIN

B. F. Dunwiddie, Wm. G. Wheeler.
DUNWIDDIE & WHEELER
Attorneys and Counselors.
Janesville, Wis.
12-16 W. Milwaukee St.

HILTON & SADLER,
THE
ARCHITECTS
Have had years of experience.
Call and see them.
OFFICE ON THE BRIDGE.
Janesville, Wis. Rock Co. phone 828.

Dr. T. F. Kennedy
DENTIST
CROWN AND BRIDGE WORK A SPECIALTY.
Tallman Block, over Badger Drug Co.

W. H. BLAIR
ARCHITECT.
Room 5, Phoenix Block, Janesville.

Men's Underwear
Now is the time to get heavy, warm Underwear. Note the following:
Men's heavy cotton ribbed Underwear, in crew or tan, at $1.00 a garment.
Men's heavy fleece lined Underwear, blue mixtures, extra value, at $1.00 each.
Men's light merino Underwear, fine quality, at 50c a garment.
Men's ribbed wool Underwear, an excellent value, at $1.00 each.
Men's heavy wool Underwear, cam-bray knit, at $1.00.
Men's ribbed wool Underwear, natural color, very soft, at $1.40 each.
Men's heavy fleece lined Underwear, double breast and back, at $1.50 a garment.

MRS. E. HALL
55 West Milwaukee Street.
Fog Delays the Lusitania.
Liverpool, Dec. 2.—The passengers of the Cunard liner Lusitania had to spend Saturday night ashore in hotels.
The Lusitania came ashore her dock
Sunday morning and the passengers embarked. During a temporary lifting of the fog, the steamer dropped out into the river but had to come to anchor, until four o'clock in the afternoon, waiting for the weather to clear. She crossed the Liverpool bar at 5:30 p. m., but will be unable to leave Queenstown until seven a. m.
Monday.

New Jersey State Senator Dies.
Akron, O., Dec. 2.—Daniel J. Brady, of Bloomfield, N. J., died suddenly at Barboursville, near here, Sunday.
Brady, who was a state senator, was on a tour of inspection of Ohio institutions for the New Jersey senate.

Asks Vast Sum for Navy.
Washington, Dec. 2.—A recommendation that congress authorize the construction of vessels for the navy to cost the huge sum of $99,270,000 is contained in the annual report of Secretary McCall presented to President Roosevelt.

Football Game Injures Fatal.
Anniston, Ala., Dec. 2.—William Norwood, aged 18, who was captain of the football team of the Alabama Presbyterian college, died Sunday as a result of injuries received in a football game a week ago.

Piles Cured in 6 to 14 Days
"PAZO OINTMENT" is guaranteed to cure any case of itching, blind, bleeding or protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days or money refunded. 50c.

RARE PAINTINGS
FOR THE LIBRARY

SELECTED BY MRS. OGDEN H.
PETHERS WHILE IN EUROPE HAVE ARRIVED.

GIFT OF LATE S. B. SMITH

Comprises "The Story of Troy," by Gabrieli. Foremost of Italian Figure Painters, and Canvases by Ignazio Leon y Escosura.

The late Stanley B. Smith provided in his will for the purchase of pictures for the Janesville public library, to be hung in the reading and children's rooms. It was the judgment of Mrs. Smith and the directors of the library that the purpose of the bequest would best be carried out by purchasing the number to two pictures of high artistic merit, thus making them of permanent interest and ever increasing value. It was a beautiful thought which inspired Mr. Smith, wholly in keeping with the love of the man.

He was one of the charter members of the Young Men's association and helped to secure its library, which formed the nucleus of the present public library. When the city provided a fund for its support, Mr.
Smith became one of the directors and remained so to the time of his death. The library, its work, its rapid growth, and its vast and ever increasing benefit to the community, were all subjects of his affectionate regard. He was never too busy to attend the meetings of the directors and spent much of his valuable time in thoughtful consideration of the needs of the library. And thus it is that after death his still his voice for ever, his generous thoughtfulness will speak to us for all time.

The directors named Mrs. Ogden H.
Pethers and Mrs. Allen P. Lovejoy, both of the board, to make the purchases; and Mrs. Pethers was finally commissioned to do so during her recent visit to Europe. On every hand she was assisted by artists and critics, who were delighted by the nobility of Mr. Smith's gift of paintings for permanent public exhibition, and in that way she was enabled to buy two paintings of vastly greater commercial value than would have been possible otherwise.

"The Story of Troy" was painted to order by Pietro Gabrieli, of Rome, who is regarded by leading art critics as the foremost figure painter of Italy.
Many will remember his large painting, "The Landing of Columbus," which he exhibited at the Chicago Exposition of 1893, and which he afterward sold to the Argentine Republic for thirteen thousand dollars. It hangs in its permanent home, and has since received many medals and decorations from various countries.
The noted American art critic, Henry Thoreau, says: "The Story of Troy" represents the poet Vergil reciting his most important poem
"The Aeneid," to the Roman emperor, Augustus Caesar and his family, on the terrace of their villa on the Mediterranean. The reading of the sixth book had a never to be forgotten effect on Octavia, the wife of Augustus, for at those great lines about the premature death of her son which begin
"The Marcellus ords," it is said she fainted and was with difficulty recovered. The emperor rewarded the poet magnificently for this tribute to his son's memory. Gabrieli, the artist, expresses the nobility of antiquity with a freshness and distinctness of touch which gives them a living interest. He can best be described as a painter of classic abstractions who has absorbed so completely the poetic feeling of the men who lived in remote centuries, that he can, and the mutilation of the modern world, think and work as these men did.
His life has been spent in Italy, the land of sunshine, and mostly in Rome, so that during his most impressionable period he has been brought into very close contact with just what was needed to fill his mind with a love for classic achievement. Such surroundings to one of his temperament could not fail to be permanently inspiring;
they definitely formed upon his character an influence which has certainly not diminished with the lapse of time.
But a successful result would only have been possible with an artist whose mind was perfectly in tune with the legend, and who saw plainly from the first how much scope the subject gave him for fantasy. Perhaps of all his paintings none could be quoted which embodies more completely the characteristics of his art.
Always what he has produced has been dignified by technical qualities of exceptional importance, as this picture suggests, by elegance and sup-pleness of draughtsmanship, and above all by the most delicate color of color. It is a valuable painting and one might consider himself fortunate to procure it for a thousand dollars.

The other painting—"The Em-broderers"—is by Ignazio Leon y Es-cosura, who was born in Asturias (Spain) and came to Paris to study under the direction of the famous painter, J. L. Gerome. He was the murder of the Order of Isabel the Catholic, Chevalier of the Order of Charles III, of Spain, and Chevalier of the Order of Christ of Portugal. He exhibited several of his works in the Spanish section at the Paris world fair, 1889, and secured high honors.
A large number of his pictures are in American collections, and two of his examples were sold at auction when the sale of the collection of the late Mrs. Morgan took place in New York.

"The Embroiderers" came from the collection of the late Count Du-puy, of Lisbon, the sale of which took place in Paris, May, 1892. The translated text of the catalogue is, "No. 121
—"The Embroiderers."
"In a room with rich tapestries and in which the sun throws its light through a window, three young women in costumes of the time of Louis XV, enjoy themselves while embroidering.
At the right, one of them is sitting at her frame, and with the left hand she is pulling a needleful of silk.
Near the window another one is sitting on the corner of a sofa holding the silk in her hands, while her companion stands before her, her hand up. At the left, a gentleman in coat and cravat, the legs crossed, is reading in some interesting book. On a chair at the left lies a black mummy."
The artist's treatment of the subject is masterly, and as a study of interior decoration is rarely surpassed.
Both paintings are in massive gold frames, enclosed in shadow boxes.
Their beautiful electric reflectors are the gift of Mr. Henry Reinhardt, who has art stores in Paris, New York, Chicago, and Milwaukee. One painting will hang in the reading room, and the other in the children's room.
They will be ready for public view on Tuesday evening. The directors have also purchased a photographic portrait of Mr. Smith, by Stein of Milwaukee, and will place it in the reading room. It is a notably sincere and life-like likeness of one who was so universally respected and dearly loved by all our people.

BRIEF SEASON SAW LITTLE OF CROP MOVE
Cooling Weather Did Not Last Long Enough to do Great Benefit.

The brief season of cooling weather that prevailed last week failed to bring the longed-for relief to the crop conditions from the poles and only a small portion was taken down for stripping, says the Editor of the Stripping. The damp spell furnished dealers an opportunity to gather type samples of the crop, which have since been forwarded to their custom connections and before this the merits of the '07 crop is topic of discussion in many offices in the tobacco centers.
Just what their verdict is will be known later when offers are made the growers for the crop.

While there is absolutely no dependence to move the new crop at present, the same influence of a financial nature dominates the cured leaf markets and no business of any consequence is reported, either among local packers or the large eastern centers of trade.

The weather continues fine, giving farmers a chance to complete their fall work so as to be able to be ready for tobacco handling later, when the time comes for stripping.

The shipments out of storage reach ten car loads, around 500 cases, for the week to all points from this market.
But a small fraction of the crop was removed from the curing sheds during the cooling spell last week, and it is apparently a mark of good judgment that more was not taken down. There seems to be a considerable portion of heavy stems in the late harvested crops which ought to remain hanging in the sheds until well towards spring. If stripped now there is little hope that growers could ever care for them in any way, and a most unprofitable loss. It is allowed to hang until eventually cured out and make a profitable leaf.
There is really no reason for hurrying the stripping this early in the season as long as the chances for sale and delivery of the crop are so robust.

MEN'S RECEPTION AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Church Committee Will Entertain at an Informal Gathering Tomorrow Evening.

The church committee of the Congregational church will give a reception to the men of the congregation tomorrow evening in the parlors of the church at eight o'clock. These receptions have proved most profitable and pleasant for the last two years.
They are very informal, consisting of a general opportunity to shake hands and get acquainted, followed by two or three minutes of talks and light refreshments. Any man interested will be cordially welcomed.

Man Drowns in Bath Tub.

Oswining, N. Y., Dec. 2.—Charles L.
Ferguson, Jr., was drowned in a bath tub at his home early Sunday.
Ferguson, who was in business in New York, was married two months ago.
Saturday night he was bathing when his wife retired. It was several hours later when Mrs. Ferguson awoke and found the body. The coroner decided that Ferguson had fainted and his head slipped below the water.

Big Fire in Houston, Tex.

Houston, Tex., Dec. 2.—Fire Sunday night destroyed business property in the heart of Houston to the value of $750,000, breaking out in the rear of the Frank Dunn jewelry store and pawnshop. The flames spread in all directions through the block and it was not until two o'clock Monday morning that the conflagration was under control.

Mrs. W. E. Shutt, Springfield, Ill., Springfield, Ill., Dec. 2.—Mrs. William E. Shutt, 87, died Sunday at the family residence in this city of diabetes. Her husband was the law partner of United States Senator and former Gov. John M. Palmer.

Safe Land Investments in Montana, along new railway lines, in tracts to sell, low prices, rapid advance certain. Investigate. Write the Potlatch Land & Investment Co., St. Paul, Minn., for Maps and full particulars.
Better than Stocks or Bonds. 195,000 acres to select from.

Two Rival Destroyers.
Minnesota Journal: The deadly grade crossing and the poisonous children are running a close heat.

ELKS' MEMORIAL TO THE DEPARTED

LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDED THE SERVICES AT THE MYERS THEATRE YESTERDAY.

ADDRESS BY REV. DENISON

Victor P. Richardson's Eulogy, the Readings, the Ritual, and the Music Were All Very Impressive and Beautiful.

"It is a good thing to remember the dead. In the orient they have a theory that this existence is controlled by the spirits of those who have gone before, and there are some who believe that this existence is controlled by the spirits of those who have gone before. Whatever you believe, I think we know that the present owes a mighty debt to the past. In Wisconsin it is a immediate debt, to the pioneers who crossed the wide rivers and threaded the wilderness to show out homes in a new country.
We are the heirs of their lives and services and sacrifices. I do not know that the dead need our remembrance, but we need them. He is no kind of a friend who can toss out the consideration of a man simply because he is gone. Yet this memorial service somehow brings forth the necessity of that immortality which we have heard outlined in Tenneyson's words.
This all of a man's life after he has borne the burdens and fought the good fight—to be remembered at a service? We have heard read to us somewhat hurriedly the names—that all of the harvest for them?
A man's life is more than a song. It is made up of heroism, exultations in the dark, and long vigils. It is filled with earnestness, with services, and sacrifices. Is this all—that his name shall sometimes be read? Down in Indiana the grave of Nancy Hanks Lincoln, the woman who gave this nation its richest gift of manhood—the little woman to whom Lincoln acknowledged he owed all. She was buried in a rude grave in a few years after a circuit rider preached a little sermon. Is that the sum total of her motherhood and suffering? Matthew Arnold, looking back over the life of his great father, Arnold of Rugby, fifteen years later, and realizing what the loss had meant to him, exclaims:
"Oh, strong soul!
By what shores tarried thou now?
For that force surely is not left vain!"
"So we, who are bound by ties to those whom we remember, must find in the poverty of this memorial, a prophecy of immortality. It is charity, to remember the dead in charity.
The years of this life are enough for quarrels, estrangements, and criticisms. But in the clarity of our remembrance we must not allow ourselves to pass into a blinding of moral distinction and outlook. Death is not magic. Man does not suddenly become an angel. The new life begins where the old, with all its fruitage, left off. There is no sovereign alchemy in death. It will not make us good. We may attain that state only by a life of sympathy and truth on this earth. That life can be moulded and changed only by growth, self-control, and self-mastery."

And yet I feel that the thing I want most to say to you is this: that the thing that his service is based on brotherhood. If you have a heart and a man in his lifetime, it is of little use to remember him, dead. Brotherhood is a beautiful thing. There are times even for the thoughtful man, when he doesn't want to listen to the prophet, or the preacher, or the poet—just years for the hearty handshake of fellowship.
I heard recently a new interpretation of Christ. The speaker said that he had thought of Him as the Great Sufferer and the Great Patriot, when there came to him the vision and voice of Christ, the Comrade, with Whom one could talk comfortably as a friend."

There is more in brotherhood than the social good cheer of fellowship—there is power. There is power even in the mob when some wild passion surges there. The power of brotherhood can shake the world if it will.
It has made this nation possible—and possible only because men stand together in sympathy and obedience to the highest. Its power is derived from service, charity, and helpfulness.
It is a beautiful thing to crown a man from slanders and the poisoned arrows of bitter and thoughtless words. But you know as well as I that there is more in brotherhood than that. The time has begun to come when brotherhood is feeling great tasks—when there are things being laid out on its heart. The world is searching with a deeper earnestness for poverty and suffering to ask WHY men should poor, and WHY they should suffer.
The French said that the cause of poverty and war was aristocracy and selfishness. They thought these causes could be removed by fire and sword. We know now that this thing cannot be accomplished by revolution, but only by brotherhood—only by the soothing element of mutual sympathy and charity. I have no doubt that we are living in the beginnings of reform. I do not believe that the world will grow suddenly good; that selfishness and dishonesty will suddenly cease to be. But the brotherhood which is not a mere sentiment, and means justice to the man at your side, realization that he is just as real as you are, that his tears are as sacred as yours, that his aspirations are as high, and his faint gray streak in the east which brings the promise of solution.

"Back of brotherhood, looms the great, tremendous fact of its source, the Old Fellowship, the Old, the Old Fellowship, the Old Fellowship, the Fellowship in the heart of God. You understand one another because you are all children of the Father, members of the same great family.
The church has no quarrel with human brotherhood. It rejoices in all signs which point to the betterment of mankind. But back of all of them it lifts the banner of the Infinite God, from Whom we come and unto Whom we one day shall return."

The foregoing is a portion of the address delivered by the Rev. Robert C. Denison, pastor of the First Congregational church, at the annual memorial services of Janesville Lodge

No. 254, B. P. O. E., which were held at the Myers theatre yesterday afternoon.

Impressive Services.
The audience was comfortably filled when at three o'clock the chorus of choirs and Prof. J. S. Taylor, its director; Rev. Denison and Victor P.
Richardson, the speakers; and Exalted Ruler W. G. Wheeler took their places on the stage. Officers of the lodge occupied two boxes on either side and members of the order took the first three rows of seats. The services were opened by the officers of the lodge with an impressive ritual, which included the calling of the names of the departed brothers:

E. P. Prentice,
Henry Palmer,
L. H. Leitch,
C. C. Brownell,
Stanley B. Smith,
Frank C. Cook,
E. H. Macomber.

Whereupon these words came from the Exalted Ruler: "In vain we call them. The places that have known them, know them no more. He that hath taken them, in the last great day, will unite the chain of love so recently broken." At a signal the lodge arose in a body and gave the sign and token of grief.

Eulogy of V. P. Richardson.
Mrs. Janet May read with great feeling and understanding Tenneyson's majestic "Crossing the Bar," and afterwards the Nevin composition for the choir. Rev. Denison offered a prayer and after that Victor P. Richardson offered a deeply thoughtful and beautiful eulogy. After the first bitter pang of separation, he said, men dwell but little on the wealth or social positions, or honors of the dead.
In the final measure we think of the qualities of mind and heart which have aroused us to a nobler conception of life, those broader, grander sympathies which enable a man to share in hopes and aspirations of his fellow beings. In this is found the hope of a band of men to lift themselves from a narrow conception of life; a desire to assist in the betterment of mankind. Thoughtful men do not wear their hearts on their sleeves, but if they did we should see that they realize that the struggles for wealth and position are mere vanities, that a human being is only as broad as his sympathies. Without these sympathies we pass through this life like ghosts—mere waifs on the sea of time, as purposeless as the mutilated which shifts its course with every wind. The earliest sage has known these sympathies. They have been the foundation of soldiers, sailors, pioneers, husbandmen, and shepherds. If we cultivate them we array ourselves with the noblest men of history—Hercules and the Greeks, Caesar, Cleopatra, and Augustus; John the Baptist and the Master; Charles Martel; Drake, who broke the Armada; John Huss and Luther, and Wesley; Nelson and John Paul Jones;
Warren, Jefferson, and Webster; Thoreau and Emerson; John Brown at Harper's Ferry; Abraham Lincoln —martyrs, heroes, and lovers. If we cannot equal their achievements we can be privates in the army and emulate their devotion.

Those Who Took Part.
The Latin male quartette, composed of Prof. Taylor, A. J. Cleveland, Geo.
Paris, and E. E. Van Pool, gave a beautiful rendition of "Still, Still with Thee," and Mrs. Day gave another impressive reading—a selection from
"In Memoriam." The services closed with an exquisite rendition of "Home, Sweet Home" by Mr. Van Pool and the chorus and a benediction by Rev.
Denison.

Among those who participated in the splendid choral work were: the Meadowses, W. R. Jeffers, A. O. Wilson,
S. B. Lewis, V. C. Weber, and Me-
Carthy; the Meadowses, Martha Taylor, Ella Pond, Bessie Stevens, Paula McCallach, Edith and Lela Savory, Miss Harold Reed, Edna Wright, and Theresa McCallach; the Meadows, H.
C. Buell, Charles Tippet, H. F. Nott,
E. C. Cary, Edward Mead, Albert Griswold, F. E. Williams, and Harry Law-don. Miss Ada Pond was pianist.

ROLL OF HONOR FOR
ST. PATRICK'S SCHOOL
The following pupils have fulfilled the requirements in attendance, scholarship and deportment for November:
FIRST GRADE—Marion Ryan,
Quincy Roberts, Maria Connors, Elizabeth Denning, Veronica Hill, Helen Connors, Gladys Gaudin, Ellen Ryan, M. Rowan Connors, Roy Nelson, Harold Ryan, Charles Bick, Gosco Bick, Harold Bick, Stanley
Ryan, Frank Miller, James Clarke, Thomas McDermott.
SECOND GRADE—Paulina Munning, Joseph Boylan, Daniel Roberts.
THIRD GRADE—Francis Connors, Albert Preme, Charlotte Connell.
FOURTH GRADE—Martha McDermott, Eddie Marshall, John Nelson, George Caspady, Frank Callahan,
Harold McCallach, Arthur Bick, Jacob Munzing, August Munzing, Mary Fullerham, Anna Phagan, Dorothy Diamond, Ida Kennedy.
FIFTH GRADE—Stephen Kennedy, Stanley Ryan, Albert Bick, Harold Fleming, John Donohoe, Mary Reader.

SIXTH GRADE—Dora Hootner, Florence Ryan, Mary Hill, Harold Connors, Anna Nolan, Marie Ryan, Hazel Murphy, Joseph Costello, Raymond Heardon, Lewis Hayes.
SEVENTH GRADE—Julia McDermott, Mary Connell, Mamie Dowd, Mamie McCue, Charles McCaffrey,
Geo. Williams, Martin Mulhan, John McDermott, William Connors.
EIGHTH GRADE—Katie Croke, John Costello, Thomas Heffron, Robert Fullerman.

Woman wears a clear, rosy complexion. Her skin is clear, her eyes bright, her hair glossy, her skin, restores radiant good health.
Torturing eczema spreads its burning area every day. Doan's Ointment quickly stops its spreading, instantly relieves the itching, cures it permanently. At any drug store.

Doan's Regulator cures constipation, tunes the stomach, stimulates the liver, promotes digestion and appetite and easy passages of the bowels. Ask your druggist for them. 25 cents a box.

There's nothing so good for a sore throat as Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil.
Cures it in a few hours. Relieves any pain in any part.

Buy it in Janesville.

LINK AND PIN
JANESVILLE BOY IS BECOMING FAMOUS

Roy O. Sanborn Has Charge of Electrical Work in Reconstruction of Chicago Street Railway Barns.
The many friends of Roy O. Sanborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Sanborn of this city, will be pleased to know of his business success. He was a graduate from the N. W. U., and took a special course in electrical engineering. At present he is connected with one of the leading electrical engineers of Chicago and is in charge of station work in the reconstruction of the Chicago Street Railway system.

C. A. N. W.
Engineer Williams and Fireman Deamhammer were on the 7:00 p. m. switch-engine yesterday.

Engine 326 relieved engine 1018 on train 502 yesterday.

Engineer Wolcott went out on the north end way freight today.

Engineer J. L. Walters and Fireman
Lewis brought train 587 up from Chicago yesterday with engine 326.

Engineer J. M. Smith has resumed work on runs 588 and 595.

Conductor Parry is relieving Conductor Boodo on runs 582 and 589.

One of the work trains working south of town has been taken off, leaving only four at work.

Conductor Deo and Engineer W.
Zimmerman took engine 53 and 134 to the Chicago shops yesterday to be repaired.

A spur track is being put in just this side of the Monterey bridge in order to facilitate the work of putting in a double track across the bridge.

George Hiller has resumed work as night dispatcher at the round house.

Fireman Stramp went out on the north end way freight this morning.

Conductor Harry Parry went out on the Harrington turnaround today in place of Conductor Dillzer.

One of Russell's backs was called out last week to take one of the Italians working in South Janesville to the train. The man had been sick for a few days and was sent to Chicago.

St. Paul Road.
Brakeman Thomas Murphy who has been making his headquarters here has gone to Madison to work on the Prairie du Chien division.

Engine 1235 is in the lead shops.

Engine 1420 brought the work train in from Mineral Point today.

Engineer Lawrence with engine 812 double headed passenger 21 to Mineral Point this morning and will return with stock tonight.

Engineer Hawthorne and Fireman
Harry went out at 11:30 this morning with engine 1601 on run 162.

Engineer Howlands went out today
with engine 1603 on run 191.

A car load of Italians went through this morning on their way to Hanover where the company is filling in some bridges.

Engineer Meade and Fireman Jell-man went out with engine 763 on run 91 today.

Engineer Williamson and Fireman Hendrickson took engine 600 out on run 65 yesterday.

Self-immolation.

Milwaukee Sentinel: "Roosevelt is the biggest grandstand player in America," says Senator Tillman. The senator is modest.

Rubber Bubbles for the Children, 25 cents.

SMITH'S PHARMACY.

MYERS THEATRE

Peter L. Myers, Manager.
1870—37TH YEAR—1907
The Leading Theatre of Southern Wisconsin.

New Phone, 609. Wisconsin, 5602.
—We Accept Cashier's Checks—

THREE NIGHTS AND MATINEE.

Beginning Monday, December 2.
MATINEE WEDNESDAY AT 3:30.

THE FRANK DANIEL'S
STOCK COMPANY

Presenting a Popular Line of Plays at Popular Prices.
MONDAY NIGHT

</

The Janesville Gazette

BUSINESS OFFICE OPEN SATURDAY EVENINGS.

INTEREST AT THE POSTOFFICE AT JANESVILLE, WISCONSIN, AN SECOND CLASS MAIL MATTER.

MEMBER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS

THIRD OF SUBSCRIPTION.

Daily Edition—By Carrier.

One Month—$1.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year, cash in advance.

Six Months—$5.00.

Daily Edition—By Mail.

CASH IN ADVANCE.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

One Year—$10.00.

it is done by the individual or by the syndicate.

FORAKER AND TAFT.

Senator Foraker is going to fight it out with William H. Taft for the Ohio presidential delegates. The war to the knife has been declared. There is to be no let up in hostilities and the best man is to have the honor of endorsement as his state's favorite son.

BEAUTIFUL JANESVILLE.

The Janesville Park and Pleasure Drive association is now a fact. The articles of incorporation have been filed and the next work is that of starting the building of the proposed roadways and parks.

Janesville people fail to realize the immense value that will accrue to the city from the new North-Western sorting yards. There is a little village all by itself down there, that is steadily taking the form of a prosperous suburb.

Local merchants insist that the people are not frightened by the stringency in the money market, and that the cashier checks are just as good to them as real coin and a lot easier to handle.

There is not much that can be said in favor of the unwritten law when it comes down to cases. The old law of ages reads plainly: "An eye for an eye; a tooth for a tooth, and a life for a life."

Out in San Francisco, one by one the big houses are taking to the tall timber in disgust at the reform element who would purify politics and civic administrations.

One merchant said Saturday that the money from the country was coming in earlier for the Christmas trade than over before. Where are the hard times?

It will soon be time to count the hours until Christmas. It would be well to take time by the forelock and buy the Christmas gifts before the stock is picked over.

The era of reform has hit the Windy City and the barkeeps have risen against Bath House John because he hired non-union help for his annual benefit ball.

Washington society will soon have finished with the Bradley trial and then New York can come to the front with its January Thaw fiasco.

Mayor Rose, former head of Milwaukee's democracy, says that he has not been sufficiently urged to become a candidate for the mayorship.

Santa Claus will be glad to hear from his little friends again this year and the Gazette will act as the mail man once more.

There is no doubt that Janesville can be made more beautiful than ever. The next question is to get to work and do it.

Another Kentucky feud is claiming its victims again and soon there will be another miscarriage of justice when the murderers are tried.

Chicago is trying hard to make the city a dry town on Sunday, but some way the side doors will remain open.

Cold weather comes, but with it snow, so that the youngsters can enjoy the sleds.

Twenty-three days more until Christmas, and only twenty of them left for shopping.

Pennsylvania is to stick by Senator Knox as its choice for president.

Put Janesville on the map of cities that show prosperity.

Pittsburg society has not been shocked for weeks past.

Gave Heart Party: Miles Tokio Nott entertained a company of young people at a heart party at her home on Terrace street Saturday evening. The prize was won by Perry McKinnon.

PRESS COMMENT.

His Greatest Claim to Fame.
Chicago Record-Herald: We call particular attention to the fact that Grand Old Man Weston didn't ask for a hand-out anywhere along the way.

Without Sanction of the Party.
Chicago Tribune: Mr. Bryan's cheerful acceptance of the donkey as the emblem of his party has not made a ton strike with the party.

The Whereof of the Emblem.
Oshkosh Northwestern: In leading the mule as the official emblem of the democratic party Mr. Bryan neglected to mention the fact that the mule apparently thinks with his foot.

Deer Season's Cost.
Milwaukee Journal: Now that the deer season is ended it takes two columns of the newspapers to recount the casualties—fifty-one fatalities taking place in Wisconsin and northern Michigan.

Cash on Tap in La Crosse.
La Crosse Tribune: The news that New York banks are resuming cash payment is less impressive in La Crosse than in communities where transactions of that sort were suspended.

Blessed be the Stay-at-Homes.
New York Commercial: Exports for the year 1907 will probably be increased in value fully $130,000,000. This would mean more gold for this country, if the wealthy Americans could be kept at home next season.

Not That Kind of a Joke.
Oconto Enterprise: We haven't heard of any women or school children coming forward with contributions to pay the judgment in the Miller-Free Press case, as it was published they did in the Scollard-Free Press case. Must have run out of cash or conscience, eh?

Worry—Worse Than Wasted.
Exchange: Why worry about 1908, as though we had a whole year to deal with? As a writer has aptly said, "If a ship could think, and should imagine itself submerged by all the waves between here and Europe, it would not dare to leave the harbor."

Right Sort of Talk, Hey Boys?
Green Bay Gazette: Wisconsin university is for the seven game schedule next season. If the team plays as well as it did in the final game of the year, everybody should be for a seven game schedule which would give the leaders an opportunity to demonstrate that the old ability of the football team has not been buried forever and aye.

Slim Chances For Central Bank.
Wall Street Journal: Mr. Stickney argues powerfully in favor of a central bank. There is certainly a growing sentiment in favor of this proposition, but it is still doubtful whether it will become powerful enough to overcome the long existing prejudice against such a measure of financial concentration. Andrew Jackson has been dead a great many years, but the influence of his hatred for banks is still felt.

Urges Faculty to Stand Pat.
Madison Democrat: But there never was a plan to mark out for anybody on public officials than the university authorities have before them in this athletic matter. They should go straight ahead along the line now being pursued—insist on purity and non-professionalism, and utterly ignore the radical sporting element which wants to win, by fair means to be sure—but win anyway. All ethical public sentiment is at once with the faculty today; and so is the legislature. Hard-headed souls care not a continental about football predominance.

Blair's Course in Courtship.
Madison Journal: The Milwaukee Sentinel considers the proposition of Mr. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction in Illinois, to teach the art of courtship and love-making in the public schools, as impracticable. When it is recalled, says the Sentinel editor, that 90 per cent of the pupils are in love to start with, the utter impossibility of teaching the science as an abstract proposition will be realized at once. We had never dreamed of associating Mr. Blair with a school experience in the tender passion. It is but fair, however, to assume that he includes himself among the 90 per cent, who backed in the sunbath of early love, and to accept his conclusion that Mr. Blair's proposition is impracticable and impossible.

Speed the Parting Guests.
Milwaukee News: There need be no cause for regret by the people of Wisconsin that foreign life insurance companies that find it inexpedient to conform to the laws of the state have decided to discontinue doing business in Wisconsin.

The laws are designed to protect the interests of the policyholders and that they are so operating is indicated by the withdrawal of companies that notoriously have been managed in the interests of Wall Street manipulators or that purpose to profit their stockholders at the expense of the insured. There will be no difficulty for any citizen of Wisconsin to obtain life insurance—insurance written on a sound basis with the element of safety to the policyholders emphasized by the requirements of the law. Let the wrong go in peace. Life insurance in Wisconsin is to be for the benefit and protection of the insured.

Chicago's Lid Fits Poorly.
Superior Telegram: A new saloon lid was called into use in Chicago last Sunday. It did not fit well and was not in harmony with the Chicago style of beauty. Apparently it was on upside down and tilted badly to one side.

Anyhow it was supposed to be on— and the civic league sent out a large number of agents to ascertain whether the facts and the supposition were in line with each other. The alignment was reported to be conspicuously imperfect. The saloons were open as usual on Sunday by way of the side door. The curtains were drawn in front and there was less noise than usual—otherwise everything was the same as in the past.

The agents of the civic league were quite often recognized by bartenders but had no trouble in buying liquor and staying as long as they liked. One saloon man who recognized them set out the liquor cheerfully when they called for it, and one of the agents remarked to him that liquor was being sold as usual.

"Yes," he replied pleasantly, "that's how I make my living."

Editorial Dried Apple Pie.
Washington Herald: But, concerning dried apples, there is nothing better or healthier in the entire lot of gastronomic delinquents than this delicacy. Did you ever taste old-fashioned "turn-over pie," contemporary—ah, we thought that would give you pause—half-moon shaped, closed tight and sealed with beautiful scallops along the edges, and filled with spiced and appetizing dried apple stuffing? Having tasted one, did you ever refuse the second? Honor bright, did you? We anticipate your reply, for you are truthful, if sometimes mistaken; you never did—you know you never did! True, the old-fashioned turn-over apples of the beautiful past are hard to secure these days. The spirit of commercialism has done away with much that is good and inspiring. But, it is not absolutely impossible to secure the right and proper thing, if one but search diligently enough—and who would not exhaust his every effort for the sake of these old-time and heaven-born "turn-over pies?"

MORTUARY MENTION.

Louis B. Meade.
Louis B. Meade of the town of Newark died early Thanksgiving morning at his home. He was long a well known resident of Rock county and a devoted father and family man.

Mrs. Helen Kimball.
The funeral of Mrs. Helen Kimball formerly of this city was held this afternoon at the Oak Hill chapel. Mrs. Kimball who was the widow of Lieut. Freeman Kimball lived here about forty years ago occupying the house afterwards purchased by Mr. Connaught on High street. Lieut. Kimball was in the 8th regiment of infantry during the civil war and died soon after the war as a result of sickness contracted during service. After this Mrs. Kimball moved to St. Louis where she lived over sixty years. The body arrived here from St. Louis this noon and was interred by the side of her husband in the Oak Hill cemetery. M. P. Richardson conducted the funeral services and the bearers were E. W. Lowell, B. C. Burnham, Leslie R. Trout, and J. A. Field.

Mrs. Mary O'Neil.
On Saturday last at midnight Mrs. Mary O'Neil a well known resident of Janesville died at her home at 405 E. Jackson street. Mrs. O'Neil was well advanced in years, being 75 at the time of her death, and has been making her home of late with her sister Mrs. William Cooley. Mrs. O'Neil was ill for several months preceding her demise. The funeral will be held Tuesday morning at nine o'clock at St. Patrick's church.

Religion?
We have just enough religion to make us into, but not enough to make us love one another.—Dean Swift.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

Reagan's chair, a satin skin, secured with satin skin, secured with satin skin. Complete Power, only 25 Cents.

STRAYED from my farm last week—two bay horses. Please notify me. John Malone, Jr., P. O. Box 100.

If the parties who took the parcel containing a pair of shoes and other articles from the point on the corner of Lodge and Academy st. Saturday night, will return them, no questions will be asked. The parties are well known.

WANTED—Work to do by the day, washing and ironing. 25 North Main St.

o'clock yesterday afternoon and interment was in the Newark cemetery. The Modern Woodmen had charge of the services at the grave.

Mrs. Humphrey.
The funeral of Mrs. Harriet Warren Humphrey, wife of Frederick A. Humphrey of Shopshire was held at two o'clock yesterday at the Congregational church of Shopshire. Mrs. Humphrey died very suddenly at Teosoma, Washington, on November 25th after a three days' illness from pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey went west some time ago for a lengthy visit and the news of her sudden death came as a great surprise to her daughter, Mrs. Charles Howard of La Prade, and to her other relatives and friends. Mrs. Humphrey had lived in Shopshire, her entire life having been born there October 22nd, 1844.

Mrs. Helen Kimball.
The funeral of Mrs. Helen Kimball formerly of this city was held this afternoon at the Oak Hill chapel. Mrs. Kimball who was the widow of Lieut. Freeman Kimball lived here about forty years ago occupying the house afterwards purchased by Mr. Connaught on High street. Lieut. Kimball was in the 8th regiment of infantry during the civil war and died soon after the war as a result of sickness contracted during service. After this Mrs. Kimball moved to St. Louis where she lived over sixty years. The body arrived here from St. Louis this noon and was interred by the side of her husband in the Oak Hill cemetery. M. P. Richardson conducted the funeral services and the bearers were E. W. Lowell, B. C. Burnham, Leslie R. Trout, and J. A. Field.

Mrs. Mary O'Neil.
On Saturday last at midnight Mrs. Mary O'Neil a well known resident of Janesville died at her home at 405 E. Jackson street. Mrs. O'Neil was well advanced in years, being 75 at the time of her death, and has been making her home of late with her sister Mrs. William Cooley. Mrs. O'Neil was ill for several months preceding her demise. The funeral will be held Tuesday morning at nine o'clock at St. Patrick's church.

Religion?
We have just enough religion to make us into, but not enough to make us love one another.—Dean Swift.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

Reagan's chair, a satin skin, secured with satin skin, secured with satin skin. Complete Power, only 25 Cents.

STRAYED from my farm last week—two bay horses. Please notify me. John Malone, Jr., P. O. Box 100.

If the parties who took the parcel containing a pair of shoes and other articles from the point on the corner of Lodge and Academy st. Saturday night, will return them, no questions will be asked. The parties are well known.

WANTED—Work to do by the day, washing and ironing. 25 North Main St.

Have You Seen Our Cough Drop Window?

Four kinds of cough drops—all good—for we make them ourselves—so they're all pure. Harebottle Drops. Sweet Anise Drops. Honey Menthol Drops. Pierson & Porter Cough Drops.

PIERSON & PORTER
"The Palace of Sweets"

Peter Weber, the eminent shoe repairer, has installed the latest machine, repairing outfit, at his Corn Exchange shop. Ladies and men's sewed tops and heels a specialty at low prices. 'Phone No. 4943.

C. W. WISCH

Up-to-Date
BARBER SHOP AND BATH ROOMS
Our workmen are first-class and up-to-date. High class toilet goods always in use.
Hayes Block.

Smoke the Black and White So Straight.
SMITH'S PHARMACY.

Use Wetmore's
HAIR TONIC AND LEMON SHAMPOO.

Two of the best Hair and Scalp Preparations on the market.

For sale by all druggists and barbers, or at our store.

F. S. Wetmore Co.
Grand Hotel Block.
Janesville, Wis.

WET-MORE

Use Wetmore's
HAIR TONIC AND LEMON SHAMPOO.

Two of the best Hair and Scalp Preparations on the market.

For sale by all druggists and barbers, or at our store.

F. S. Wetmore Co.
Grand Hotel Block.
Janesville, Wis.

Use Wetmore's
HAIR TONIC AND LEMON SHAMPOO.

Two of the best Hair and Scalp Preparations on the market.

For sale by all druggists and barbers, or at our store.

F. S. Wetmore Co.
Grand Hotel Block.
Janesville, Wis.

Use Wetmore's
HAIR TONIC AND LEMON SHAMPOO.

Two of the best Hair and Scalp Preparations on the market.

For sale by all druggists and barbers, or at our store.

GREAT COMBINATION SALE

A Big Surprise Awaits You

Saturday was the opening day of the Sale of Carpets, Rugs and Curtains. Hundreds who attended could not keep back the exclamations of surprise on finding such an immense display, and other big surprises on learning the Prices. Remember the entire second floor is being used to put the stock before the people. In order to reduce our stock we are cutting the life all out of Prices. ARE WE DOING IT? READ ON!

Tapestry Brussels Carpets, worth 75c to $1.00, at Great Combination Sale 48c to 68c.

Body Brussels Carpets, some with borders to match, worth $1.25 to 1:65 at G. C. S., 68c to 98c.

Axminster, worth $1.00 to $1.50, at G. C. S., 68c and 78c.

Velvet Carpets with borders to match, worth $1.00 to $1.65, at G. C. S., 68c to $1.10.

Ingrain, Hemp and Jute Carpets and Matting, worth 25c to 65c, at G. C. S., 10c to 35c.

All Wool 2 Ply Ingrains, sold in Milwaukee and Chicago at 80c, Great Combination Sale Price, 45c.

Ingrain Remnants, all wool, large assortment, at G. C. S., 35c.

Tapestry Brussels Rugs—Size 8 ft. x 10 ft. 6, worth $12.00, at G. C. S., $7.98.

Tapestry Brussels Rugs—Size 9x12 ft., worth $15, at G. C. S., $11.98.

Axminster Rugs—Size 9x12, regular $25.00 rugs, at G. C. S., $17.98.

Royal Wilton Velvet Rugs, Savalan grade, sold usually for $40.00, large assortment, at G. C. S., $29.98.

Linoleum, Oil Cloth, Matting at prices that mean quick selling.

CURTAINS, 500 pairs.

Portieres, usually sold at $2.50 to $12 a pair, at G. C. S., $1.48 to $5.98.

Lace and Muslin Curtains, worth 50c to $3.50, at G. C. S., 39c, 69c, 95c, $1.35, $1.55, $1.98.

THE SALE is warning up as people are finding out that NO SUCH PRICES were ever made before on goods that are full of merit, and have the quality in them.

DO NOT PASS this by lightly if you have a single carpet or curtain want for the present or future as SUCH PRICES have never been made before.

THE ELEVATOR is in the east corner of the building, the staircase in front at right of entrance, inside.

On the Ground Floor

MANY new things have been added the past few days.
500 YARDS of BLACK broadcloth and fancy silks on sale, worth 75c to $1.25, at G. C. S., 49c.

BLACK KID GLOVES, were $1.00 to $1.50, at G. C. S., 50c.

DRESS GOODS BARGAINS

Here is an opportunity that no woman can afford to miss. 5000 YARDS of DRESS GOODS and HEAVY CLOAKINGS worth from 3 to 4 times the asking prices, at G. C. S

Is Money Tight With You?

If so, you will be pleased to note that your needs in the Dental line may be easily met.

If you select the Right Dentist, Dr. Richards has built up the largest dental practice in the city during the past 7 years.

1ST. PAINLESS DENTISTRY.

Just this A. M. one of the most prominent and influential citizens of Jamesville consulted him and had an ulcerated tooth extracted and said in departing:

"Dr. Richards, you did that very nicely and satisfactorily to me."

2NDLY. GOOD, HONEST WORK.

Time tells the tale in all things and time only shows up the durability of his work.

3RDLY. REASONABLE PRICES.

You no doubt have paid $10.00 each for those gold-crowns in your mouth.

Dr. Richards has put out hundreds in this city for just $5.00 each, and guarantee them to be the same in every respect—quality of gold, thickness of gold, purity, etc., etc.

What's the use of paying twice as much as necessary, when by consulting

Dr. Richards you may get the same work at a less price and all done painlessly in the bargain.

Offices over Hall & Sayles Jewelry store, West Milwaukee St.

CLEANERS AND DYERS

Overcoats, fall and winter jackets and skirts

Chemically Dry-Cleaned, Dyed, Pressed, Repaired, Velvet Collars

put on with short notice.

CARL F. BROCKHAUS

JAMESVILLE, WIS.

RINK NIGHTS

Monday,

Wednesday,

Friday,

Saturday,

And Every Afternoon.

First National Bank

Capital - $125,000

Shareholders

Responsibility $125,000

Surplus & Profits $120,000

Total Responsibility

$370,000

52 Years Business Record

DIRECTORS:

LEVI B. CARLE,

SAMUEL C. COBB,

THOMAS O. HOWE,

GEORGE H. RUMRELL,

ALLEN P. LOVEJOY,

VICTOR P. RICHARDSON

JOHN G. REXFORD.

Next Time

you need coal or fuel of any kind—

Call up

W. J. BAKER & CO.

Coal and Wood Dealers.

Office and yards N. Bluff St.

Opposite Gas Works.

SOME GOOD BARBERS

AT

THE RED FRONT BARBER SHOP

Chas. Weaver, Prop.

171 W. Milwaukee street.

Basket-ball now

is the popular game.

There's excitement galore

in the struggle for fame.

Your enthusiasm will be aroused to its highest pitch once you try our pastured milk. It is absolutely pure and healthful.

Janesville Pure Milk Co.

GRIDLEY & CRAFT, Props.

WATER-COMPANY HAS

A REPORT ON WATER

Professor Erasmus C. Smith Makes His Report on His Chemical Analysis.

So much has been said relative to the alleged taste and odor found in the city water at times within the past three weeks and the numerous complaints filed with the Water company, that a chemical analysis of the water taken from four different sources was made, during the past few days by Professor Erasmus C. Smith, of Beloit college, one of the experts in the chemical analysis line in the country. The following is his report of the conditions found and should set at rest all doubts as to the quality of Jamesville's drinking fluid.

Beloit, Wis., Nov. 28, 1907.

Mr. Hyzer, Supt. Janesville Water Co., Janesville, Wis.

Dear Sir: On November 18th I received a communication requesting me to come to Jamesville and make an examination of the public water supply of that city. On November 18th I met you at your office and was directed to take such samples from any points of the service as would be necessary to determine its present quality. On looking the ground over it seemed to me that samples taken from the following points would give a fairly good indication of the quality of both the water supplied to the public and also of the water actually delivered, and samples for both chemical and bacteriological examination were at that time collected by myself personally, as follows:

From the open reservoir at the pumping station, for chemical analysis.

From the covered well at the pumping station for chemical analysis.

From the public fountain on the east side, for chemical analysis and bacteriological examination.

From the public fountain on the west side, for chemical analysis and bacteriological examination.

The samples are all clear, bright, without odor and of good taste. The water is quite uniform throughout this system of samples collected; such differences as may be detected being due to conditions incident to the collection and processes of analysis.

The chemical analyses show that there are but slight amounts of organic matter of any sort in the water. Very few waters of any sort can be collected and examined without finding some traces of organic matter, and the data obtained from these samples fall within the limits accepted for waters of the highest purity. The number of bacteria in the several samples collected in sterilized bottles is low.

It is very important to note that in none of the samples were any bacteria of the sewage or suspicious types found. Each of the samples were subjected to cultures through the media commonly employed to detect the sewage forms, and in none of these separate cultures is there any evidence whatever of sewage or other harmful and suspicious organisms.

It seems to me therefore reasonable to conclude that this water now furnished to Jamesville by your company is a good, wholesome drinking water, free from organic impurity and one which can be safely used by all.

I remain, Yours respectfully,

E. C. SMITH.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

Pastels, water colors, etchings and photos make a fine Christmas present.

Finest line in the city. Sale on now, J. H. Myers.

Hot chocolate with whipped cream at Allie Rozzoco's.

Monteville, Flowers in Wallace's "Hill Hur" at M. E. church tomorrow night.

When you die how will they get along? See A. B. Cairns.

Don't fail to hear the interpretation of "Hill Hur" tomorrow night.

A good smoke? Try Council Chamber 5 cent cigar.

Don't miss our special sale of clocks and suits this week. T. P. Burns.

Smoke! Ruben clear Havana Cigars. Special prices on ladies' and children's underwear and hosiery. T. P. Burns.

Use Taylor's Solvay code. Picture sale now on for ten days.

Any picture in the house 25 per cent off. Finest line of pictures in the city. J. H. Myers.

Mrs. Winslow's sale of dressed dolls and Xmas articles on Tuesday, Dec. 3rd, 304 Jackson street.

Presbyterian ladies' Xmas sale of useful and ornamental articles, also cake sale on Wednesday, Dec. 4, beginning at 2 p. m. Chicken pie supper from 6:00 to 7:30, 25c.

Mrs. Both Temple, of River street, received severe burns on her hands while attempting to polish the kettle of her stove. Dr. Woods was summoned to dress the burns which caused her intense pain.

The W. R. C. meets in their hall Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. A full attendance is desired as there will be an election of officers for the coming year.

The regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Auxiliary will be held Tuesday, Dec. 3, at 3 p. m. All members are expected to be present.

The directors of the public library extend a cordial invitation to all to attend the opening of the new (Tuesday) evening of the oil paintings donated to the library by the late Stanley B. Smith.

Circle No. 2 meet Tuesday at 3:00 p. m. in the parlors of the church.

Regular meeting of Rock Council No. 738 at Spanish War Veterans' hall at eight o'clock Tuesday evening.

Election of officers. All members are requested to attend.

The Social Club Auxiliary of the Congregational church will hold an all day meeting Tuesday. A large attendance is hoped for as this will be the last meeting before the Christmas sale.

St. Joseph's Court No. 229, C. O. V., will hold its regular meeting of Foresters' hall Tuesday evening, Dec. 3, at 8 o'clock. Business of importance is to be transacted and a full attendance is desired. S. J. Hestorfer, C. R. 25 per cent off on all pictures for ten days. Pick out your Christmas present. J. H. Myers.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. T. James and son have returned from a visit with relatives in Monticello and Brodhead.

James H. Monahan was in Jamesville for a short time this morning. Otto Dreyer returned to Chicago this morning after spending Thanksgiving with his parents.

Richard A. Dreyer returned to Milwaukee this morning where he is attending the Milwaukee Medical college.

Elmer Dreyer returned to Madison this morning to resume his studies at the university.

Miss Florence Ayers of Chicago arrives this evening to visit Miss Vera Wilcox for a week.

Ralph Shilbee returned to Chicago this morning.

Mr. Matthew Smith and Joseph Schell of Chicago were guests of the Misses Agnes and Florence, 127 Chatham St., on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barnhorn, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Barnhorn of Chicago and Lawrence Barnhorn spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Angie M. Barnhorn, 80 Main street, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Barnhorn came from the city in their automobile and Lawrence Barnhorn made the return trip to Chicago with his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bear returned Saturday evening from a two weeks' visit at Iowa points.

Andrews Terry of Darlington was a Jamesville visitor this morning.

Charles Knight of Mineral Point and former pitcher on the University of Wisconsin baseball team was in Jamesville today for a short time.

Lawrence Doty returned to Chicago this morning.

Miss Edna Rogers who has been visiting her sister in Johnsons Creek returned this morning.

H. S. Lovejoy went to Evansville this morning on business. He will be there today and tomorrow.

Fred Baker went to Beloit this afternoon on business.

F. C. Copeland was in Chicago over Sunday.

T. J. Ziegler of Chicago is in Jamesville today.

Rev. L. J. Carr and Jan. J. Pearson of Edgemoor were in the city today.

Miss Grace Valentino and Mr. John Lewis spent the day in Chicago visiting the Automobile show.

Sheriff Fisher went to Chicago with two loads of sheep today.

Mr. John Donahue of Sioux Falls, S. Dak., arrived in Jamesville today to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mary O'Neil tomorrow. Mr. Donahue formerly lived here.

This afternoon Mrs. Will Sayles was the hostess at a one o'clock luncheon, followed by cards.

Mrs. David Holmes entertains the Young Ladies' Card club this afternoon at her home in Forest Park.

Tomorrow evening the second in the series of six golf club dances will be given at Central hall.

The Associated charities held their regular weekly meeting this afternoon at Helmsström's drug store.

The Twentieth Century History club held their bi-weekly meeting at the Catalonian rooms this afternoon.

Miss B. Hughes of Iron Mountain, Mich., is a visitor in the city.

W. J. McNulty of Clinton was in the city last night.

Charles Wright of Daraboo was a Sunday visitor in Jamesville.

Miss Glenn Emerson of Menominee, Mich., was a guest of Miss Gladys Heddles over Sunday.

F. A. Harrison of Brodhead was in the city Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Jones of Baraboo were in the city Saturday.

Miss Adelle Bullock leaves tomorrow for a visit with her brother in Ogem, Utah.

Mrs. J. L. Wilcox is confined with illness to her home on South Second street.

E. W. Lowell leaves tomorrow for Texas.

Miss Mabel Ames of Brooklyn, is visiting at the home of her cousin, W. T. Flaherty.

FIVE INTERESTING LECTURES PLANNED

Luther League Plans Lectures on Pagan Countries to be Given Soon.

A series of lectures which promise to be of unusual interest will be given this winter in St. Peter's English Lutheran church under the auspices of the Luther League. The series includes five lectures as follows: India in Transition, or Marvels in the Orient, by the Rev. Wm. Belert, of Racine, on Wednesday evening December 4th. An Evening in China or the Open Door in the Celestial Empire, by the Rev. P. E. Baskin, of Kenosha, on January 8th. In Dark Africa or From Cape Colony to the Congo, by the Rev. A. C. Peterson of Waterloo, on February 5th. The Land of the Koran, or Turkey, by the Rev. G. K. Rimbrecht of Milwaukee, on February 26. The Malay Peninsula and Borneo, by the Rev. W. P. Christy of this city, on the evening of April 1st.

The lectures are illustrated by stereopticon views prepared by the Christian Lantern Slide and Lecture Bureau, of Chicago. Each lecture will contain much valuable information on the customs, modes of life, superstitions, history, crime, religious ceremonies and ideal of the different peoples portrayed.

The first lecture on India in Transition, or Marvels in the Orient, on Wednesday evening, presents a most fascinating study of the eastern empire, history, geography, history, religion, sacred temples, mountains and rivers, peculiar customs and religious ideas, immortal Gods and "holy men," in visit to the Sacred Ganges, the Ghats, Fakirs, and religious ceremonies. It portrays in vivid colors the high caste, the low caste and the outcast. It deals at length with the degradation of women, the handwork of Satan for one thousand years, the introduction of Christianity and the awakening of millions.

Everyone is urged to be present and avail themselves of this opportunity of getting a glimpse into the dark countries of the earth. The doors will be thrown wide open to the public and no admission will be charged.

Hurt While Coasting: A party of children sliding down the hill back of the court house yesterday ran into a tree and little Clarence Jackman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackman, had one leg torn open above the knee so badly that the physician found it necessary to take seven stitches.

TO INVITE LADIES

ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Janesville Lodge of Elks Will Have Theatre Supper Served in Rooms Thursday Evening.

On Thursday evening next the Janesville Lodge 254, B. P. O. E. will serve an after theatre supper in their rooms in the Myers theatre block after the performance of DeWolf Hopper's "Happyland."

Mr. Hopper and several of the leading members of the company will be invited guests of the order on this occasion. The supper will be served at eleven o'clock immediately after the performance, tickets being in the hands of members of the house committee or the steward.

The affair is only open to Elks and their ladies it being a strictly club affair. The committee in charge of the affair ask that as many as can purchase tickets before Wednesday noon so that arrangements may be made to serve all who are to come.

GOES TO FREE PRESS ON TELEGRAPH DESK

Howard W. Chadwick Leaves Gazette to Become Assistant Telegraph Editor in Milwaukee.

Howard W. Chadwick who has been connected with the Gazette editorial rooms, since last July left today for Milwaukee where he will become assistant telegraph editor of the Milwaukee Free Press. Mr. Chadwick is a former student at the university and also attended Leland Stanford University, being a student there at the time of the San Francisco earthquake at which time he formed one of the student rescue leagues that supplied the stricken city with milk daily for several weeks. Mr. Chadwick's home is in Monroe and during his stay in Jamesville he made many warm friends who will be sorry to learn of his departure.

MATRIMONIAL.

Flend-Rogers.

Mr. George Rogers of this city joined the ranks of the marrieds last Monday night at Jefferson. His bride was Miss Lydia Flend of Jefferson and the ceremony was performed at the home of the bride in that city.

Mrs. Rogers for some time lived in Jamesville and made many friends here. Mr. Rogers, who is a son of Henry Rogers, is now engaged in the paint contracting business and has his shop on Wall street. The happy couple are now at home on Pearl St. receiving the congratulations of their many friends.

NEW YORK SWEET CIDER 25¢ GAL.

4 CANS CORN 25¢

FULL CREAM CHEESE 18¢ LB.

10-LB. SACK BUCKWHEAT 35¢

3 PKGS. MINCE MEAT 25¢

DILL PICKLES 12¢ DOZ.

SWIFT'S JERSEY BUTTER 16¢ LB.

3 LBS. PRUNES 25¢

E. R. WINSLOW

20 N. Main St.

BLIND INSTITUTE TO HAVE OWN WATER-WORKS

And Three Large Iron Tanks Will be Placed in Position—Excavations For Large Boiler House in Progress.

Excavations for a large boiler house at the State School for the Blind are in progress under the direction of Contractor W. H. Hughes. The state has decided to put in a private water-works system there and to that end have three 28x7 foot iron water tanks weighing seven tons each placed in position and used as reservoirs. Hereafter the institution has used city water. It is expected that a considerable saving will result from the new plan.

NASH

FANCY LARGE, RED, CAPE COD CRANBERRIES 10¢ QT.

GOLD MEDAL FLOUR 15¢.

PILLSBURY'S BEST XXXX FLOUR 15¢.

MONSOON PATENT FLOUR 13¢.

SWIFT'S JERSEY BUTTER 16¢ LB.

16-LB. BOX SODA, BUTTER OR OYSTER CRACKERS $1.

HOME GROWN BREAD, COOKIES AND DOUGHNUTS.

EGG BAKING POWDER, SEEDLESS SULTANA RAISINS 10¢ LB.

BEST 50¢ TEA ON EARTH. BEST 25¢ COFFEE ON EARTH. HOME LUXURY COFFEE 20¢ LB.

BLODGETT'S SELF-RISING PANCAKE AND BUCKWHEAT FLOUR 10¢.

3 TOASTED CEREAL FLAKES 5¢.

30¢, 40¢ and 50¢ TEA. FANCY SANTA PRUNES 7¢ lb.

FANCY NORTHERN POTATOES.

SNOWBALL POPPING CORN 10¢.

3-LB. PKG. QUAKER CORN MEAL 10¢.

QUAKER OATS 10¢ PKG.

NORWEGIAN ZART FISH. 3 LBS. RICHELIEU COFFEE $1.00 PKG.

18 LBS. CANE SUGAR $1.00. 3 LBS. POP CORN ON EARS 10¢.

LARGE SWEET PICKLES 10¢ DOZ.

FANCY CANADIAN RUTABAGAS 20¢ PECK.

RALSTON'S WHOLE WHEAT FLOUR 50¢.

SHELL OYSTER AND OYSTER PATTI CRACKERS.

SOLID MEAT SELECT OYSTERS.

7 SANTA CLAUS OR LENOX SOAP 25¢.

6 OLD COUNTRY OR BEACH'S FAVORITE SOAP 25¢.

NEW 1907 HONEY. 20¢ LB.

NEW 1907 LIMA BEANS 7¢ lb.

FANCY MALAGA WHITE GRAPES 15¢ LB.

FINE TEA DUST 16¢ LB.

MRS. LESTER'S HOME MADE MINCE MEAT. 18¢ LB.

3 LEWIS LYE 25¢.

6 EXPRESS TOILET PAPER 25¢.

3 CHLORIDE OF LIME 25¢.

25 OZ. K. C. BAKING POWDER 10¢.

NONE SUCH MINCE MEAT 10¢.

HAND-MADE CHOCOLATE CANDY 20¢ LB.

CAMPBELL'S SOUPS 10¢.

FANCY BALDWIN APPLES 50¢ PECK.

4 LBS. BULK MACARONI 25¢.

RED, YELLOW AND WHITE ONIONS 30¢ PK.

GROCERIES AND MEATS.

NASH

WEDDED AND HAPPY

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Barlass Celebrated Their Silver Wedding Anniversary on Saturday.

Relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Barlass assisted in the celebration, Saturday, at their home in the town of Harmony, of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. A number from Jamesville participated in the festivities. The host and hostess were presented with a number of handsome silver tokens.

STOP AND FIGURE THE EXACT PERIOD

SPORTING NEWS.

INDOOR BASEBALL.

How the Great Winter Game Has Advanced.

IT HAS BECOME SCIENTIFIC.

Numerous Clubs and Leagues Are Now Scattered Throughout the Country. Interesting Facts About the Game. Originated in Chicago.

Indoor baseball as now so universal, is played throughout the United States and Canada is practically governed by the same rules as those which obtained at the initial game in the clubhouse of the Farragut in Chicago years ago. It has developed many players and a host of interested followers, but in all the seasons the changes in rules have been slight. The principal difficulty to overcome when the game is started was the puzzle of making the run from base to base after a pitched ball. Precise calculation of the time required for the catcher to throw to a base as compared with the time of a runner between bases (twenty-seven feet apart) showed that the stealing of second base depended on the speed of the runner, provided he started from first at the time the catcher received the ball. Therefore the rule was made that the runner must not start "until a pitched ball has reached or passed the catcher," and so well has this worked that the same close play is found at second base as when a player tries to steal in the outdoor game under the old rule.

With this point successfully settled, the other rules were more easily evolved, and with the proper balancing of the relative sizes of the bat and ball to meet requirements the game may be said to have started on its successful career.

Owing to the newness of the game and consequent inexperience of those who played the score at first often times ran into large figures, the record of the initial contest being 41 to 40. As the play of the athletes improved the result was much smaller figures and more on the professional basis of baseball, until now, with numerous clubs and leagues all over the country, the game has reached a scientific standpoint hitherto unsuspected of fulfillment.

It can be played in any hall of size which will permit of sufficient light

W. L. WELCH.
(President National Indoor Baseball Association.)

and room for the diamond and fielding, the composition of the floor being immaterial, as the rubber soled shoes required to be worn will allow running on even the waxed floor of a dancing hall. About the smallest size for a playing floor is 40 by 60 feet. A larger surface will of course allow greater freedom for fielding and running. The spectators are usually placed in the right and left field, on either side of the catcher's territory and in galleries, according to the construction of the room used for play.

At first the sport was confined to a few of the social clubs of Chicago, which had organized a league, but of late years great strides have been made toward having the game spread all over the United States. Many of the Chicago clubs have made trips to cities east and west and played indoor ball before large crowds of spectators, who had become initiated in the sport and consequently extremely interested, for it is said of indoor ball that it is the most exciting sport for the winter months give us, for the space allotted for play usually being somewhat confined, the spectators and players are at no great distances from each other and the rapid action is of a very exciting nature.

Some excellent players have been developed, especially among amateurs. Several professionals have tried their hand, but find themselves outclassed by the more nimble amateurs, as agility rather than strength enters largely into the sport.

A different style of play is noticeable in the successful indoor player from that adopted outdoors. In adding to bases there must be perfect abandon, and sliding well around the bag the arm can be thrust out in passing and the base hit. In hitting the ball can be bunted successfully, and as the first contact with the floor decides its fairness this feature is one practiced by many of the best players.

The umpire's duties are difficult, as the quick play and closeness to the players oftentimes actually prevent their seeing the action, but in case one is unable to judge the other may be appealed to.

AMERICAN GIRL JOCKEY.

Mary Money Is Now a French Sensation—Daring Horse Pilot.

Miss Mary Money, a beautiful girl from the United States, is a guest of the Countess de Mollin at Chantilly, where she is preparing to become a jockey. Already she has applied to the Jockey club for a license.

A bold and graceful steeplechaser, she rides nimbly dressed like a boy.

MISS MARY MONEY.

Twenty-eight prizes and fourteen silver trophies have been won by her in spirited riding contests. Miss Money has put herself under the direction of Webb, the trainer, and anticipates taking a prominent part in the spring races on France's principal courses. The French stand in amazement mingled with admiration at her pluck and daring.

"What next?" they cry, but add: "She is sure to win. Who would wish it otherwise? Luck cannot resist a pretty woman. The judges, the spectators, even the steepest riders, all will be hypnotized by her." She has evoked the applause of Chantilly folk by the splendid way she takes hedges on her trained jumper.

CLASSY YOUNG TROTTERS.

Trampland Star of His Division in Two-year-old Events.

There was probably never before bunched in a race such classy two-year-olds as those that raced in the kindergarten division of the Kentucky Futurity and the Lexington stake at the meeting which has just been concluded at Lexington. Seven colts and three fillies, able to show a mile in a race in 2:17 or better would have been regarded even five years back as impossible, yet every starter in the two-year-old division of the Kentucky Futurity went that fast in the first heat, in which Trampland, to beat out Dorothy Axworthy, was forced to lower the world's race record, setting the new mark at 2:12 1/2, which was caught a quarter to a half second faster by a score of export owners and trainers about the judges' stand. One of the official timers caught the mile in 2:12.

Trampland was bred by W. L. Spears at Hickorywood farm, just beyond the famous Elmhurst thoroughbred stud of James B. Haggis, on the Mayville pike, seven miles from Lexington. When he was bred his sire, The Tramp, then owned by the estate of the late George Horsemann and banker, H. H. Plant, was making a season at Hickorywood farm. Asked about the early days of the colt, Mr. Spears said: "When Trampland was a yearling I thought him the best prospect for a race horse that I ever broke."

THE "HURRY UP" MAN.

Coach Yost of the University of Michigan Football Team.

Coach "Hurry Up" Yost of the University of Michigan football team is looked on as the best man in his line in the middle west. For years he produced championship teams for the Ann Arbor institution, but of recent years he has experienced a dearth of reliable material, and the records of his teams have fallen off in impressiveness.

Yost gets his nickname "Hurry Up" from the fact that he is probably the greatest "driver" that ever handled an eleven. He is as severe on his men as an Egyptian slave master. An one of his team members once said: "When you play on a Yost eleven he makes you out football, sleep football, drink football and dream football. He's the greatest 'hurry up' man on earth since the days of Napoleon Bonaparte."

"HURRY UP" YOST.

MUST HAVE REFORM OF MONEY SYSTEM.

REMEDIAL LEGISLATION NECESSARY, SAYS MR. FOWLER.

GREAT PERIL IN FUTURE

Continuation of Present Policy Will Result in Tremendous Commercial Crisis, Predicts the Congressman.

New York, Dec. 2.—Chairman Fowler, of the house committee on banking and currency, made the following statement Sunday respecting the outlook for financial legislation in the sixtieth congress:

"There certainly should be some remedial legislation, and I can assure you that the members of the committee on banking and currency will bend their energies to that end. What we shall be able to accomplish no man can answer. But that there is urgent need for help no man can deny."

"At the dinner of the American Bankers' association at St. Louis a year ago, I predicted that the thing which has happened must happen unless some immediate action was taken; that there was not a banker in the United States who would not regret it if something were not done."

Great Danger in Future.

"At the close of the last session of congress I said that the condition of our finances and currency was such that it would of necessity lead to the destruction of our prosperity."

"Again, I now declare that if this government continues its present policy of injecting into the arteries of trade and commerce a fixed bond-secured currency—by exchanging securities, by bond speculation, by treasury manipulation, by executive order or by any other form of thimble-rigging—we shall continue to move, but with greatly accelerated speed, toward a commercial crisis, compared with which the present panic is only a pleasant summer outing. Our condition this fall has been one of real prosperity. Our crops are worth about $7,000,000,000; the products of our mines about $1,400,000,000; our manufactured products about $17,000,000,000—a total of $25,000,000,000."

"Meanwhile we have had the advantage of an extraordinary consumption of foodstuffs and are enjoying exceptionally high prices. If all this were not true, but on the other hand, our business conditions had been bad, our crops poor and foreign prices low, imagine what would have transpired. Notwithstanding all this, and wholly because of the maladministration of our finances, we are in a state of panic."

Much of Reserves in Bank Notes.

"We have today in the banks of this country about $12,000,000,000 of deposits and about the same amount of outstanding loans. Against this fabulous sum the banks hold as reserve about $300,000,000, or less than eight per cent. And even of this eight per cent. reserve, nearly one-quarter—$200,000,000—is in bank notes, a mere credit, a mere promise to pay."

"Stating it in another way, the reserves held against $2,250,000,000 of our bank deposits to-day are bank notes and not gold, which is admittedly the only proper reserve in any country with a gold standard."

"Yet, if we continue our present policy, where is it going to end? Not long will it be before all of our bank deposits will rest upon credit reserves. This is obviously the worst and wildest form of inflation. Yet it is rumored that sheer madness is to follow as a scheme now being wrought out to add to this already overwhelming burden another load in the form of state, municipal and railroad bonds, as the basis of our bank currency liability."

Bank Call Looked For.

New York, Dec. 2.—A call upon the national banks for their condition on a very recent date is expected by bankers here to come from the controller of the currency this week. Four of the five calls required each year by law have already been made, the last having shown the condition of the national banks on August 22.

It is possible that the call now anticipated will have an important influence on the financial situation. It is expected that it will reveal large reserves of cash in the country banks, and this will tend to restore confidence among depositors to a degree which will make it easy to resume currency payments throughout the country.

New Orleans Exchange Reopens.

New Orleans, Dec. 2.—The easy money situation in the south was indicated Sunday night by the announcement that the New Orleans stock exchange would resume trading Monday after several weeks' suspension. The exchange has been dealing only in state, city and levee bonds and Monday's extension will include many though not all the securities traded in before the crisis.

Airship Passes Over Wales.

London, Dec. 2.—An airship, believed to be the French military airship Patrie, which broke loose Saturday at Verdun, France, was seen passing over Wales from various places in Cardiganshire Sunday morning, travelling seaward at a great altitude. Some of the spectators declared that three men were clinging to the ship. In the afternoon an airship passed over Belfast going northward, apparently under control.

Prefer Yellow Pearls.

Though white pearls are preferred in Europe, in China bright yellow pearls are most valuable.

BITS OF HUMOR.

UNACCOMMODATING.

She (thinking to take his mind off—how restless the waves are, dad. They always seem to be clamoring for something.

Dad—Well, they won't get it if I can help it.—Fattler.

DIFFERENCE.

Stout—Here, what do you mean? You told me the water at the end of the pier was only up to my neck, and I nearly drowned!

Slim—Excuse me, I said up to my neck!—Chicago News.

SHE KNEW HIM.

He—Pooie says he's deeply in love with Miss Thomas.

She—Don't you believe it. He's too shallow to be deeply in love with anyone.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE RULING FASHION.

Male Survivor (excitedly)—A sail! A sail!

Female Ditto (walking from stupor)—Where, George? Where? At whose store? I really must not miss it for anything!—Scraps.

INSULT TO INJURY.

Tommy—Pa, look out of the window. Quick!

Pa—You boys are a confounded nuisance. What d'yer want?

Tommy—Young Bertie Jones wouldn't believe you'd get no hair on the top of your head, dad!

A WINNER.

"Corky tells me that he made his fortune with one grand stroke."

"Yes, he married a widow worth a million."—Detroit Free Press.

IN THE SAME BOAT.

"I don't think she's pretty."

"Neither do I." (After a pause) "Did she refuse you, too?"—Punch.

JUST LIKE A MAN.

Bridget (the new cook)—An' p'wat do yer knowband be ather lookin' for his breakfast, nam?

Mrs. Grawells—Oh, he likes anything we haven't got.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A DOMESTIC MYSTERY.

Hubby—Why, it takes half of my salary to pay for your clothes!

Wife—Yes, and I often wonder what you do with the other half.—Ally Sloper.

HE KNEW.

Mrs. Henpeck—What a little word "yes" is.

Henpeck—But a long sentence follows it sometimes.—St. Louis Republic.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE ABROAD.

MAY LEAD GREAT STRIKE.

Richard Bell, M. P., general secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants of England, will be the manager of the greatest strike on record, if the railway companies do not consent to concede some of the demands of their employees. And Mr. Bell is not a man to be trifled with, either. He is a strong, determined man of moderate views, but iron purpose, who has consistently refused to wage a demagogic war upon capital, and who has always urged the unions to remember that capital has its rights as well as labor.

When the labor party, intoxicated with its own success at last election, introduced a resolution in the house of commons in favor of socialism, Mr. Bell refused to have anything to do with it, even when urged and threatened by the Amalgamated

Railway Servants, from whom he draws the magnificent allowance of a little more than $25 a week. They intimated to him as plainly as possible that unless he supported the resolution they would never elect him again. Still he refused, but strange to say, his independence of mind only raised him the higher in the estimation of those who disagreed with him, and there was never a whisper of deposing him as leader of the amalgamation.

Mr. Bell's father was a quarryman in Wales, but, having narrowly escaped death himself and seen his brother crushed by a fall of stone before his eyes, he gave up his dangerous occupation and became a policeman. The son went to work in overalls and although his mind had been steeped in theories of the divine right of employers he early became an active officer of the union. He was repeatedly transferred or discharged for perfunctory activity, and in the end the railway men engaged him as organizer at a small salary. He rose steadily until he became general secretary and manager of the union which comprises practically all the railway men in the United Kingdom.

Mr. Bell is a powerfully built man of 43 years, a self-taught man and an ardent student. He has served in parliament since 1900.

LEADING BRITISH PHYSICIST.

Sir Oliver Lodge, who discovered a method of dispelling fog by means of an electric current, is authority for the statement that science has proved the immortality of the soul, but he repudiated the theological dogma of the resurrection of the body. Nothing that ever really existed can perish, he says, but merely changes its form. Therefore mind, consciousness, memory, love and all the other manifold activities can never vanish into nothingness.

Sir Oliver is one of the leading English physicists. He is the principal of the University of Birmingham, and holds honorary degrees from nearly all of the great British universities for his educational works, of which he has published a dozen or more. One of these, "Signalling Without Wires," was the forerunner of the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy. Others of his books are regarded as standards on scientific subjects, such as "Modern Views of Electricity," "Lightning Conductors and Lightning Guards" and "Life and Matter." It was while experimenting with lightning conductors that he discovered the effect an electric current has upon fog. He noticed that electricity projected the particles of dust from a charged body, and determined to test its effect upon the air. He made a fair imitation of London atmosphere during a fog by placing a saucer of muriatic acid and concentrated liquid ammonia in a bell jar, and when the fumes filled the jar turned on the current of electricity. The fog immediately disappeared by the precipitation of the dust carrying the moisture.

A more conclusive experiment was then made with a lightning rod on one of the university buildings. It was connected with a powerful battery and on the first foggy day Sir Oliver went out on the roof and signalled for the current to be turned on. The fog was dispersed for some distance around, but as soon as the current was turned off it closed in again.

Although 66 years of age Sir Oliver is an active man and an enthusiastic golfer. He still contributes largely to scientific magazines.

HAS FINEST HAREM.

All His Majesty, the youthful sultan of Zanzibar, who is now touring Europe, is said to be on the lookout for possible additions to his harem. The dusky ruler enjoys the distinction of having the finest collection of female beauties in the Orient. Rival harems, such as those of the sultan of Turkey and the shah of Persia, may be more extensive, but Ali is credited with exquisite taste, and he does not leave the duty of selection to a subordinate. Each candidate for admission to his seraglio receives the personal and critical attention of the youthful Sultan. Such care has had its inevitable result. Turkish, Arabian, Circassian and European beauties combine to make the royal harem of Zanzibar the most superb institution of its kind the world over.

The sultan is almost as much a European as an African. He was brought up in England and educated at Harrow and Oxford. Although he is only 22 years old, his great idea in life is to develop his own country and to bring it well to the front. At Harrow School Sultan Ali was immensely popular, and was a great success at cricket. His skill as a horseman even in those days was extraordinary.

In 1902, the year of King Edward's coronation, the young sultan first became generally known to London society.

Since then the young sultan has been a familiar figure in all the courts of Europe—and many other places besides the courts. But although he appreciates the good things of the earth, he is a man of large ideas, and his mind is devoted to the industrial development of Zanzibar.

ON DELICATE MISSION.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, who has gone to Japan to insist upon the limitation of Japanese immigration into Canada, has had a most rapid rise in political life. In the early 90's he was a newspaper reporter with a seat in the press gallery at Quebec, preferring that to the practice of law. A fluent and convincing speaker, he was in much demand at political meetings. In 1890, when the Liberals determined to "redeem" the county of Gaspé, he was nominated as a forlorn hope. He made a whirlwind campaign and, to the surprise of the party leaders, was elected by a substantial majority.

Several years later he was appointed professor of the law in Laval university, and has since been selected to represent Canada before the privy council in England. He was advanced to the position of solicitor-general for Canada, and in 1906 to postmaster-general and minister of labor, one of the most important positions in the Canadian cabinet. Now he is selected to carry an ultimatum to Japan. His task is a delicate one, for the British government recognizes no distinction of race or color, and Canada will get no support from that quarter. "Under the trade treaty between Canada and Japan the latter agreed to restrict the immigration of Japanese to one per cent from each of the 43 prefectures of Japan, but British Columbia has been flooded with Japanese from Hawaii, and the Japanese government claims to have no jurisdiction over these. It will be for Lemieux to demonstrate that Japan's trade will suffer, if she does not consent to keep her subjects from making a half way house of Hawaii. Should he succeed it will be the greatest diplomatic victory he has yet won and will make him solid with the voters of the Pacific coast.

She Deserves Some Reward.

Hope certainly springs eternal in the breast of the maiden of 42 summers who continues to glance over her shoulder at the mirror on Hallway.

Social Note.

Eighty per cent. of the human family is sane. The rest are in public asylums, madhouses and society.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HIS COURTSHIP

By HELEN R. MARTIN.
Author of "Little A Mennonite Maid."

COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY MCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY.

Kliron drew a purse from his pocket and, taking out some bills, laid them before Eunice. "Your aunt gave me this money to give to you for your expenses until you join her in New York."

The girl's eyes opened wide. "I am to go to my aunt?" she breathlessly asked. "My aunt? It seems so strange," she said, her face flushing, a quiver in her voice that revealed pitifully her lifelong loneliness, "to feel that there is some one in the world belonging to me!"

"Your aunt expects to send her secretary, Mrs. Kenyon, a widow, down here for you next week to take you back with her to New York. This money, she instructed me to tell you, you can use in getting yourself some clothing for your journey with the help of Mrs. Kenyon. When you are with your aunt she will do everything in the world for your welfare, I know."

"Eunice," cried Abe, starting up, "you ain't a-goin' away to stay away—no, you ain't!" he pleaded. "Och, Eunice, if you'd say yes to me I'd leave you like the washin' with the money you got from your aunt, and I'd leave you spend at the close all you wanted, and we'd go a good bit, too, to clothes and county fairs and even to the roof garden in town. We could afford to with your havin' such a lot yet! Why, I guess we could afford 'most anything! Won't you say yes to me?"

Eunice slowly turned her eyes upon him. "Say 'yes' to you now with freedom—freedom just at my hand? Marry you and remain a bond slave, with my heart still crying out as it has done all my life, 'Who will deliver me from the body of this death?' To myself to you, when liberty and the wide world lie before me? Oh, Abe," she exclaimed, "if the thought of marrying you was horrible to me while I was under your mother's and father's tyranny how must it look to me now that I am free-free to live, to be myself, to feed the hunger of my mind and soul with all the beauty of the world? Marry you, Abe?" A little rippling laugh broke from her lips. "Kliron felt his heart beat with the shock of the joy that suddenly surged up in his heart at the revelation of her words, while he mentally pronounced himself an ass for his stupidity in not having realized the impossibility of her caring for Abe."

"Ty-ranny!" exclaimed Mr. Morningstar, taking up her words, while Abe looked dazed. "After all me and mom done for you—and our son even wantin' to marry you and us urg'n' it—and givin' you back yer $3,000!"

The draft for that money was in her hand. She suddenly broke in upon his speech by holding it out to him.

"Take it back. I know how you have suffered in having it forced from you. And I don't need it. Take it as payment for my board during the remainder of my stay here."

Mr. Morningstar almost pounced upon it, while his small eyes gleamed. "That ain't no more'n right, seein' you don't need it, and me I couldn't rightly spare it." He glanced triumphantly at Kliron. "You thought you was wonderful smart, ain't yit?" this here money off of me? But I got ahead of you that there time."

Kliron gave a short laugh. "I'm satisfied with my work," he said.

"Eunice, you ain't goin' to act so on-grateful as to leave right in the middle of eunice's season?" exclaimed Mrs. Morningstar, with a momentary return to her habitual asperity toward the girl. "You could put off goin' to your aunt till a couple weeks 'tready anyhow. How is me and Ollie goin' to get through all without you? And maybe if you stayed on a couple of weeks you'd come to see it some different about Abe too."

"Just as soon as the lady whom my aunt is sending for me can take me away I shall go."

"Well, if you don't call that actin' mean—right in the middle of eunice's season, too, yit?"

"Och, mom, you talk dumm!" said her husband, with a disgusted turning of his back on her and flinging his words behind him at her. "With a fortune waitin' for her at New York over, what would she do with stoppin' to help with our eunice's season? She kin afford to buy canned tomatoes out of the grocery store and won't have to bother no more with puttin' up. I know what a big fortune means to a person if you don't. I knowed a man out west was worth worth'n $50,000."

"If you don't work you don't eat!" snapped Mr. Morningstar viciously, the family habit of browbeating the girl getting the better of his prudence, for he knew, of course, that it was unwise to further offend one who had become so rich. "This here $3,000 ain't payin' for your board, fur it ain't yourn to give—it was mine in the first place—extorted out of me by force! So you just come on here, and help mom get supper or you don't eat!"

He emphasized his words by lifting his hand which held the draft, and instantly the valuable strip of paper was drawn out of his fingers. Kliron passed it on to Eunice.

"If I may offer a word of advice, don't pay your board in advance, Eunice. Wait until you are ready to leave."

"I couldn't rightly spare it," he said, why was it not permitted to me to have even the little education that the district school might have given me? But there," she added, "you didn't realize the wrong you did me. And it is all in the past, and I have already turned my back upon my past."

"You're turnin' your back on us now, are you?" said Ollie darkly. "We ain't good enough for you now, are we, since you're got so wonderful rich all of a sudden? I guess you wouldn't even send me a new dress from town once in a while to pay for all the old ones I got you 'tready?"

Again that little ripple of laughter from Eunice. "Would you like me to send you my clothes after I have no more use for them, Ollie?" she inquired, a touch of gaiety in her voice and a bright color coming into her pale cheeks. "Why, certainly I will."

"If you can't send me a new one now and again, I don't want your old ones!" Ollie retorted.

"You may draw on me, Ollie, for all the silk dresses you can wear," Eunice said recklessly.

Ollie's eyes sparkled. "Look at her, Eunice, do you mean that for really?"

Upon Eunice's answering her Ollie's look of complacency proclaimed her resignation to the turn events had taken, since she herself was not altogether shut out from a share in them.

"Eunice, will you come with me now?" Kliron asked, again rising and feeling buoyant in the liberty which the new circumstances gave him to talk with her unrestrainedly and when and where they both would, independent of the government which had made him so rich. "I have some things to discuss with you."

Eunice rose at once, the pensiveness of her countenance momentarily lifting as even his good news for her had not caused it to die.

"You haven't the date to go; there's supper to make!" interposed Mrs. Morningstar from force of habit, not realizing yet that her reign was over.

Eunice, walked to the door which Kliron was holding open for her. "I'm afraid you and Ollie will have to get on without me," she said, turning at the threshold. "I have paid my board, you know, for the rest of the time I shall be here—$3,000 up to the end of next week. As a boarder, of course you can't expect me to do any work."

"If you don't work you don't eat!" snapped Mr. Morningstar viciously, the family habit of browbeating the girl getting the better of his prudence, for he knew, of course, that it was unwise to further offend one who had become so rich. "This here $3,000 ain't payin' for your board, fur it ain't yourn to give—it was mine in the first place—extorted out of me by force! So you just come on here, and help mom get supper or you don't eat!"

He emphasized his words by lifting his hand which held the draft, and instantly the valuable strip of paper was drawn out of his fingers. Kliron passed it on to Eunice.

"If I may offer a word of advice, don't pay your board in advance, Eunice. Wait until you are ready to leave."

000 yet."

Again Mrs. Morningstar sighed heavily. "Eunice," she said, changing her tone to motherly persuasiveness, "you'll come to see us now and again, ain't? You would like to come home where you was raised, still, ain't you would?"

Eunice looked at her and shook her head almost shudderingly.

"Never?"

"Ain't you got no gratefulness?" Mrs. Morningstar exclaimed in despair.

"But what," the girl asked gently, "have I to be grateful to you for? It seems to me I have much—very much more—to forgive. With $4,000 left to me, why was it not permitted to me to have even the little education that the district school might have given me? But there," she added, "you didn't realize the wrong you did me. And it is all in the past, and I have already turned my back upon my past."

"I couldn't rightly spare it."

"You're turnin' your back on us now, are you?" said Ollie darkly. "We ain't good enough for you now, are we, since you're got so wonderful rich all of a sudden? I guess you wouldn't even send me a new dress from town once in a while to pay for all the old ones I got you 'tready?"

Again that little ripple of laughter from Eunice. "Would you like me to send you my clothes after I have no more use for them, Ollie?" she inquired, a touch of gaiety in her voice and a bright color coming into her pale cheeks. "Why, certainly I will."

"If you can't send me a new one now and again, I don't want your old ones!" Ollie retorted.

"You may draw on me, Ollie, for all the silk dresses you can wear," Eunice said recklessly.

Ollie's eyes sparkled. "Look at her, Eunice, do you mean that for really?"

Upon Eunice's answering her Ollie's look of complacency proclaimed her resignation to the turn events had taken, since she herself was not altogether shut out from a share in them.

"Eunice, will you come with me now?" Kliron asked, again rising and feeling buoyant in the liberty which the new circumstances gave him to talk with her unrestrainedly and when and where they both would, independent of the government which had made him so rich. "I have some things to discuss with you."

Eunice rose at once, the pensiveness of her countenance momentarily lifting as even his good news for her had not caused it to die.

"You haven't the date to go; there's supper to make!" interposed Mrs. Morningstar from force of habit, not realizing yet that her reign was over.

Eunice, walked to the door which Kliron was holding open for her. "I'm afraid you and Ollie will have to get on without me," she said, turning at the threshold. "I have paid my board, you know, for the rest of the time I shall be here—$3,000 up to the end of next week. As a boarder, of course you can't expect me to do any work."

"If you don't work you don't eat!" snapped Mr. Morningstar viciously, the family habit of browbeating the girl getting the better of his prudence, for he knew, of course, that it was unwise to further offend one who had become so rich. "This here $3,000 ain't payin' for your board, fur it ain't yourn to give—it was mine in the first place—extorted out of me by force! So you just come on here, and help mom get supper or you don't eat!"

He emphasized his words by lifting his hand which held the draft, and instantly the valuable strip of paper was drawn out of his fingers. Kliron passed it on to Eunice.

"If I may offer a word of advice, don't pay your board in advance, Eunice. Wait until you are ready to leave."

"I couldn't rightly spare it," he said, why was it not permitted to me to have even the little education that the district school might have given me? But there," she added, "you didn't realize the wrong you did me. And it is all in the past, and I have already turned my back upon my past."

"You're turnin' your back on us now, are you?" said Ollie darkly. "We ain't good enough for you now, are we, since you're got so wonderful rich all of a sudden? I guess you wouldn't even send me a new dress from town once in a while to pay for all the old ones I got you 'tready?"

Again that little ripple of laughter from Eunice. "Would you like me to send you my clothes after I have no more use for them, Ollie?" she inquired, a touch of gaiety in her voice and a bright color coming into her pale cheeks. "Why, certainly I will."

"If you can't send me a new one now and again, I don't want your old ones!" Ollie retorted.

"You may draw on me, Ollie, for all the silk dresses you can wear," Eunice said recklessly.

Ollie's eyes sparkled. "Look at her, Eunice, do you mean that for really?"

Upon Eunice's answering her Ollie's look of complacency proclaimed her resignation to the turn events had taken, since she herself was not altogether shut out from a share in them.

"Eunice, will you come with me now?" Kliron asked, again rising and feeling buoyant in the liberty which the new circumstances gave him to talk with her unrestrainedly and when and where they both would, independent of the government which had made him so rich. "I have some things to discuss with you."

Eunice rose at once, the pensiveness of her countenance momentarily lifting as even his good news for her had not caused it to die.

"You haven't the date to go; there's supper to make!" interposed Mrs. Morningstar from force of habit, not realizing yet that her reign was over.

Eunice, walked to the door which Kliron was holding open for her. "I'm afraid you and Ollie will have to get on without me," she said, turning at the threshold. "I have paid my board, you know, for the rest of the time I shall be here—$3,000 up to the end of next week. As a boarder, of course you can't expect me to do any work."

"If you don't work you don't eat!" snapped Mr. Morningstar viciously, the family habit of browbeating the girl getting the better of his prudence, for he knew, of course, that it was unwise to further offend one who had become so rich. "This here $3,000 ain't payin' for your board, fur it ain't yourn to give—it was mine in the first place—extorted out of me by force! So you just come on here, and help mom get supper or you don't eat!"

He emphasized his words by lifting his hand which held the draft, and instantly the valuable strip of paper was drawn out of his fingers. Kliron passed it on to Eunice.

"If I may offer a word of advice, don't pay your board in advance, Eunice. Wait until you are ready to leave."

"I couldn't rightly spare it," he said, why was it not permitted to me to have even the little education that the district school might have given me? But there," she added, "you didn't realize the wrong you did me. And it is all in the past, and I have already turned my back upon my past."

"You're turnin' your back on us now, are you?" said Ollie darkly. "We ain't good enough for you now, are we, since you're got so wonderful rich all of a sudden? I guess you wouldn't even send me a new dress from town once in a while to pay for all the old ones I got you 'tready?"

Again that little ripple of laughter from Eunice. "Would you like me to send you my clothes after I have no more use for them, Ollie?" she inquired, a touch of gaiety in her voice and a bright color coming into her pale cheeks. "Why, certainly I will."

"If you can't send me a new one now and again, I don't want your old ones!" Ollie retorted.

"You may draw on me, Ollie, for all the silk dresses you can wear," Eunice said recklessly.

Ollie's eyes sparkled. "Look at her, Eunice, do you mean that for really?"

Upon Eunice's answering her Ollie's look of complacency proclaimed her resignation to the turn events had taken, since she herself was not altogether shut out from a share in them.

"Eunice, will you come with me now?" Kliron asked, again rising and feeling buoyant in the liberty which the new circumstances gave him to talk with her unrestrainedly and when and where they both would, independent of the government which had made him so rich. "I have some things to discuss with you."

Eunice rose at once, the pensiveness of her countenance momentarily lifting as even his good news for her had not caused it to die.

"You haven't the date to go; there's supper to make!" interposed Mrs. Morningstar from force of habit, not realizing yet that her reign was over.

Eunice, walked to the door which Kliron was holding open for her. "I'm afraid you and Ollie will have to get on without me," she said, turning at the threshold. "I have paid my board, you know, for the rest of the time I shall be here—$3,000 up to the end of next week. As a boarder, of course you can't expect me to do any work."

"If you don't work you don't eat!" snapped Mr. Morningstar viciously, the family habit of browbeating the girl getting the better of his prudence, for he knew, of course, that it was unwise to further offend one who had become so rich. "This here $3,000 ain't payin' for your board, fur it ain't yourn to give—it was mine in the first place—extorted out of me by force! So you just come on here, and help mom get supper or you don't eat!"

He emphasized his words by lifting his hand which held the draft, and instantly the valuable strip of paper was drawn out of his fingers. Kliron passed it on to Eunice.

"If I may offer a word of advice, don't pay your board in advance, Eunice. Wait until you are ready to leave."

"I couldn't rightly spare it," he said, why was it not permitted to me to have even the little education that the district school might have given me? But there," she added, "you didn't realize the wrong you did me. And it is all in the past, and I have already turned my back upon my past."

"You're turnin' your back on us now, are you?" said Ollie darkly. "We ain't good enough for you now, are we, since you're got so wonderful rich all of a sudden? I guess you wouldn't even send me a new dress from town once in a while to pay for all the old ones I got you 'tready?"

Again that little ripple of laughter from Eunice. "Would you like me to send you my clothes after I have no more use for them, Ollie?" she inquired, a touch of gaiety in her voice and a bright color coming into her pale cheeks. "Why, certainly I will."

"If you can't send me a new one now and again, I don't want your old ones!" Ollie retorted.

"You may draw on me, Ollie, for all the silk dresses you can wear," Eunice said recklessly.

Ollie's eyes sparkled. "Look at her, Eunice, do you mean that for really?"

Upon Eunice's answering her Ollie's look of complacency proclaimed her resignation to the turn events had taken, since she herself was not altogether shut out from a share in them.

"Eunice, will you come with me now?" Kliron asked, again rising and feeling buoyant in the liberty which the new circumstances gave him to talk with her unrestrainedly and when and where they both would, independent of the government which had made him so rich. "I have some things to discuss with you."

Eunice rose at once, the pensiveness of her countenance momentarily lifting as even his good news for her had not caused it to die.

"You haven't the date to go; there's supper to make!" interposed Mrs. Morningstar from force of habit, not realizing yet that her reign was over.

Eunice, walked to the door which Kliron was holding open for her. "I'm afraid you and Ollie will have to get on without me," she said, turning at the threshold. "I have paid my board, you know, for the rest of the time I shall be here—$3,000 up to the end of next week. As a boarder, of course you can't expect me to do any work."

"If you don't work you don't eat!" snapped Mr. Morningstar viciously, the family habit of browbeating the girl getting the better of his prudence, for he knew, of course, that it was unwise to further offend one who had become so rich. "This here $3,000 ain't payin' for your board, fur it ain't yourn to give—it was mine in the first place—extorted out of me by force! So you just come on here, and help mom get supper or you don't eat!"

He emphasized his words by lifting his hand which held the draft, and instantly the valuable strip of paper was drawn out of his fingers. Kliron passed it on to Eunice.

"If I may offer a word of advice, don't pay your board in advance, Eunice. Wait until you are ready to leave."

"I couldn't rightly spare it," he said, why was it not permitted to me to have even the little education that the district school might have given me? But there," she added, "you didn't realize the wrong you did me. And it is all in the past, and I have already turned my back upon my past."

"You're turnin' your back on us now, are you?" said Ollie darkly. "We ain't good enough for you now, are we, since you're got so wonderful rich all of a sudden? I guess you wouldn't even send me a new dress from town once in a while to pay for all the old ones I got you 'tready?"

Again that little ripple of laughter from Eunice. "Would you like me to send you my clothes after I have no more use for them, Ollie?" she inquired, a touch of gaiety in her voice and a bright color coming into her pale cheeks. "Why, certainly I will."

"If you can't send me a new one now and again, I don't want your old ones!" Ollie retorted.

"You may draw on me, Ollie, for all the silk dresses you can wear," Eunice said recklessly.

Ollie's eyes sparkled. "Look at her, Eunice, do you mean that for really?"

Upon Eunice's answering her Ollie's look of complacency proclaimed her resignation to the turn events had taken, since she herself was not altogether shut out from a share in them.

"Eunice, will you come with me now?" Kliron asked, again rising and feeling buoyant in the liberty which the new circumstances gave him to talk with her unrestrainedly and when and where they both would, independent of the government which had made him so rich. "I have some things to discuss with you."

Eunice rose at once, the pensiveness of her countenance momentarily lifting as even his good news for her had not caused it to die.

"You haven't the date to go; there's supper to make!" interposed Mrs. Morningstar from force of habit, not realizing yet that her reign was over.

Eunice, walked to the door which Kliron was holding open for her. "I'm afraid you and Ollie will have to get on without me," she said, turning at the threshold. "I have paid my board, you know, for the rest of the time I shall be here—$3,000 up to the end of next week. As a boarder, of course you can't expect me to do any work."

"If you don't work you don't eat!" snapped Mr. Morningstar viciously, the family habit of browbeating the girl getting the better of his prudence, for he knew, of course, that it was unwise to further offend one who had become so rich. "This here $3,000 ain't payin' for your board, fur it ain't yourn to give—it was mine in the first place—extorted out of me by force! So you just come on here, and help mom get supper or you don't eat!"

He emphasized his words by lifting his hand which held the draft, and instantly the valuable strip of paper was drawn out of his fingers. Kliron passed it on to Eunice.

"If I may offer a word of advice, don't pay your board in advance, Eunice. Wait until you are ready to leave."

"I couldn't rightly spare it," he said, why was it not permitted to me to have even the little education that the district school might have given me? But there," she added, "you didn't realize the wrong you did me. And it is all in the past, and I have already turned my back upon my past."

"You're turnin' your back on us now, are you?" said Ollie darkly. "We ain't good enough for you now, are we, since you're got so wonderful rich all of a sudden? I guess you wouldn't even send me a new dress from town once in a while to pay for all the old ones I got you 'tready?"

Again that little ripple of laughter from Eunice. "Would you like me to send you my clothes after I have no more use for them, Ollie?" she inquired, a touch of gaiety in her voice and a bright color coming into her pale cheeks. "Why, certainly I will."

"If you can't send me a new one now and again, I don't want your old ones!" Ollie retorted.

"You may draw on me, Ollie, for all the silk dresses you can wear," Eunice said recklessly.

Ollie's eyes sparkled. "Look at her, Eunice, do you mean that for really?"

Upon Eunice's answering her Ollie's look of complacency proclaimed her resignation to the turn events had taken, since she herself was not altogether shut out from a share in them.

"Eunice, will you come with me now?" Kliron asked, again rising and feeling buoyant in the liberty which the new circumstances gave him to talk with her unrestrainedly and when and where they both would, independent of the government which had made him so rich. "I have some things to discuss with you."

Eunice rose at once, the pensiveness of her countenance momentarily lifting as even his good news for her had not caused it to die.

"You haven't the date to go; there's supper to make!" interposed Mrs. Morningstar from force of habit, not realizing yet that her reign was over.

Eunice, walked to the door which Kliron was holding open for her. "I'm afraid you and Ollie will have to get on without me," she said, turning at the threshold. "I have paid my board, you know, for the rest of the time I shall be here—$3,000 up to the end of next week. As a boarder, of course you can't expect me to do any work."

"If you don't work you don't eat!" snapped Mr. Morningstar viciously, the family habit of browbeating the girl getting the better of his prudence, for he knew, of course, that it was unwise to further offend one who had become so rich. "This here $3,000 ain't payin' for your board, fur it ain't yourn to give—it was mine in the first place—extorted out of me by force! So you just come on here, and help mom get supper or you don't eat!"

He emphasized his words by lifting his hand which held the draft, and instantly the valuable strip of paper was drawn out of his fingers. Kliron passed it on to Eunice.

"If I may offer a word of advice, don't pay your board in advance, Eunice. Wait until you are ready to leave."

"I couldn't rightly spare it," he said, why was it not permitted to me to have even the little education that the district school might have given me? But there," she added, "you didn't realize the wrong you did me. And it is all in the past, and I have already turned my back upon my past."

"You're turnin' your back on us now, are you?" said Ollie darkly. "We ain't good enough for you now, are we, since you're got so wonderful rich all of a sudden? I guess you wouldn't even send me a new dress from town once in a while to pay for all the old ones I got you 'tready?"

Again that little ripple of laughter from Eunice. "Would you like me to send you my clothes after I have no more use for them, Ollie?" she inquired, a touch of gaiety in her voice and a bright color coming into her pale cheeks. "Why, certainly I will."

"If you can't send me a new one now and again, I don't want your old ones!" Ollie retorted.

"You may draw on me, Ollie, for all the silk dresses you can wear," Eunice said recklessly.

Ollie's eyes sparkled. "Look at her, Eunice, do you mean that for really?"

Upon Eunice's answering her Ollie's look of complacency proclaimed her resignation to the turn events had taken, since she herself was not altogether shut out from a share in them.

"Eunice, will you come with me now?" Kliron asked, again rising and feeling buoyant in the liberty which the new circumstances gave him to talk with her unrestrainedly and when and where they both would, independent of the government which had made him so rich. "I have some things to discuss with you."

Eunice rose at once, the pensiveness of her countenance momentarily lifting as even his good news for her had not caused it to die.

"You haven't the date to go; there's supper to make!" interposed Mrs. Morningstar from force of habit, not realizing yet that her reign was over.

Eunice, walked to the door which Kliron was holding open for her. "I'm afraid you and Ollie will have to get on without me," she said, turning at the threshold. "I have paid my board, you know, for the rest of the time I shall be here—$3,000 up to the end of next week. As a boarder, of course you can't expect me to do any work."

"If you don't work you don't eat!" snapped Mr. Morningstar viciously, the family habit of browbeating the girl getting the better of his prudence, for he knew, of course, that it was unwise to further offend one who had become so rich. "This here $3,000 ain't payin' for your board, fur it ain't yourn to give—it was mine in the first place—extorted out of me by force! So you just come on here, and help mom get supper or you don't eat!"

He emphasized his words by lifting his hand which held the draft, and instantly the valuable strip of paper was drawn out of his fingers. Kliron passed it on to Eunice.

"If I may offer a word of advice, don't pay your board in advance, Eunice. Wait until you are ready to leave."

"I couldn't rightly spare it," he said, why was it not permitted to me to have even the little education that the district school might have given me? But there," she added, "you didn't realize the wrong you did me. And it is all in the past, and I have already turned my back upon my past."

BIG CLEARING SALE OPENS WEDNESDAY

—AT—

MRS. M. E. WOODSTOCK'S

61 WEST MILWAUKEE STREET

$5,000 Stock Will Be Disposed of At a Fraction of Cost

Bargain Seekers and Holiday Buyers Can Secure Materials at Heretofore Unheard of Prices—As already stated we must have more room for our large millinery business and for that reason will dispose in the quickest possible manner of all our ladies' materials (excepting millinery.) This sale coming, as it does, only a short time before the holidays, will be of tremendous value to shoppers generally. Goods are marked so low as to make it seem like giving them away. The stock is all high grade.

These Prices Give You An Idea of What to Expect:

Quantities of Yarns, all colors, fine stock which sold at 25c skein, go at ..... 5c
Children's Caps and Hoods which sold at 50c to 75c each, marked down to ..... 5c and 10c
Handsome remnants of Silks and Brocaded Velvets which have sold at 75c and $1.00, will be sold at ..... 10c and 15c
RIBBONS—We have an immense stock of Ribbons, all colors, all widths, sold regularly at 25c and 30c yard, will go at ..... 10c yard
We have some All Wool Hosiery, regular 50c stock, which goes at ..... 15c pair

Few pieces of all wool $1.25 Underwear, yours at ..... 50c a piece STAMPED LINENS—Splendid holiday materials, nice line of them, regular 50c and 75c pieces, will go at ..... 15c and 20c
ART SQUARES—The $1.00 kind, reduced to ..... 25c and 35c
TOILET ARTICLES—A large line of fine Perfumes and Toilet Articles of the choicest grades, will be sold at prices which will interest you. There are lines of Ladies' Furnishings, Infants' Coats, China Pieces, Holiday Goods, and many other articles too numerous to mention.

Goods will be displayed on counters and tables, plainly marked, and we would advise early attendance.

SALE OPENS NEXT WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4

61 WEST MILWAUKEE STREET

MRS. M. E. WOODSTOCK

61 WEST MILWAUKEE STREET

SECRETARY TAFT SEES THE KREMLIN

SPENDS SUNDAY IN HISTORICAL CENTER OF RUSSIA.

FORTRESS THROWN OPEN

American Colony in Moscow Banquets the Distinguished Visitor—People Cheer Him on the Streets.

Moscow, Dec. 2.—Secretary Taft devoted Sunday to a visit to the ancient Kremlin, the historical center of Russia, all the palaces and churches of which were opened for his inspection by the special order of Lieut. Gen. Guerschmann, governor general of Moscow.

After the round of official visits had been paid Sunday morning, the governor general assigned his personal aide to conduct the American secretary of war and his party through the fortress. Secretary Taft showed remarkable familiarity with the historic laws, which he had learned from his father, who formerly was stationed in Russia.

Interested in Relics.

He was greatly interested in the crown jewels and the armor and relics of the former rulers of Russia, particularly those which had belonged to Peter the Great. Mrs. Taft sat in the state equipage, which was presented to the royal family by Queen Elizabeth of England, and in the traveling sleigh of Catherine the Great.

Secretary Taft had a conversation through an interpreter with a veteran soldier, a member of the Palace Grenadiers, who bore stripes and medals denoting 48 years' service. The battle-scarred hero wept when Secretary Taft, not contented with the military salute, insisted upon shaking hands with him when he departed.

Banqueted by Americans.

Monday evening the secretary and his party attended a banquet given in his honor by the American colony. President Roosevelt and Emperor Nicholas were toasted. Mr. Taft responded briefly to the speech of welcome of the American consul, Samuel Smith.

Everywhere the distinguished representative of the United States is recognized while sightseeing and heartily cheered. Monday there will be an official dinner in his honor and a special ballet in the opera in the evening. Secretary Taft will leave late in the evening for St. Petersburg.

Pens in a Ton of Steel.
A single ton of steel will make about 10,000 gross of steel pens.

BRIDEGROOM IS MURDERED.

Skull Fractured by Rejected Sultor of His Bride.

Brownsville, Pa., Dec. 2.—While the festivities in celebration of his marriage were at their height early Sunday, George Bea, aged 35 years, accompanied by several companions, left the house to urge a friend living near by to join in the fun. They had gone a short distance when half a dozen men, supposed to be rejected suitors of Bea's bride, leaped from hiding and one of them dealt Bea a blow that fractured his skull and caused death a few hours later.

Bea's friends endeavored to assist him, but were forced to retreat. In the fusillade of shots John Jackovic, a guest, was hit in the face by a bullet and seriously injured.

H. Cassaway Davis to Wed.

Washington, Dec. 2.—Former United States Senator Henry Cassaway Davis of West Virginia, 84 years old, multimillionaire and Democratic candidate for vice president in the last campaign, is to be married, so intimate friends of his assert. The bride-to-be, according to the announcement, is Miss Maud Ashford, who has been earning a living as society reporter for a Washington paper.

Live Longer Than Men.

The average woman lives three years longer than the average man, according to statistics recently compiled in England. During the last 50 years the average life of man has increased from a little under 40 to a little over 44, and women from a little under 42 to a trifle under 46.

Both Worlds.

The grand difficulty is to feel the reality of both worlds, so as to give each its due place in our thoughts and feelings, to keep our mind's eye and our heart's eye fixed on the land of promise, without looking away from the road we are to travel toward it.—Augustus Hare.

A Cheerful Spouse.

"Why don't you send your wife bouquets as you did before you were married?" "Because," answered Mr. Newton, "after a man is married a present of a bunch of flowers is more likely to call for apologies for a waste of cash that might have been applied to the purchase of a new dress."

Has Record for Divorces.

The world's record for the greatest number of divorce cases is held by the Hungarian city of Arad.

New York School Children.

The average attendance at the New York public schools is now 635,000, which is about 35,000 more than one year ago.

THE ROUNDUP COLUMN.

West Touches on a Variety of Timely Sporting Topics.

All the English Willie boys are greatly worked up over the game of baseball, although as yet, of course, they fail to see how it classes with cricket and "button, button, who's got the wheelbarrow?"

Some of the best scores made in games between English teams are 20

SEEN AND HEARD IN AN ENGLISH BAR.

to 33, 37 to 41 and 49 to 64½. In this last recorded game the one-half run resulted from the heart failure of an English heavy hitter, who on rounding second base while making his twenty-seventh run dropped dead from sheer exhaustion.

We have the Tigers in New Jersey and Detroit, the Cubs in Chicago, the Browns in Buffalo, the Wolverines in Michigan, the Gophers in Michigan, the Dodgers in Wisconsin, the Grasshoppers in Kansas, the Coyotes in Nevada and the Yampies in California. It is all very well, but we are afraid our British cousins will take us too literally.

J. Ed Grillo declares that the days of baseball wars are about past. This is rather disheartening. We thought we were just about to break into one that promised some excitement.

Marking back to an ancient rhyme which had its implication in Peter Jackson and may now be applied to Jack Johnson's standing as a heavy-weight pugilist:

Come is come? Well, that's another. Now, admit that pug is pure. Men as make their lives' heads. Have no right to put on lugs.

The Wabash (Ind.) Athletic association football team, the first in Indiana to play the game under electric lights, has again returned to the old system of night games this year, as the patronage is vastly larger at night games and nearly all of the best men have positions that make day games impossible. The gridiron is lighted by numerous electric lights, and these are so arranged that every play can be followed from the side lines, and the players make as few fumbles as in broad daylight.

Now has arrived the great season of winter training for baseball players. The nervous strain of the off season operations of the faithful workers is something terrific, according to reports. Much of the work consists in discussing "deals." There are various kinds, classes and varieties of deals.

POPULAR FORM OF WINTER BASEBALL TRAINING.

The Automobile Club of Chicago has divided its members in two classes—those who belong and those who don't belong. WILLIE WEST.

Hoppe Anxious to Regain Lost Laurels. Willie Hoppe, the young American billiard player, who has been giving exhibitions in Europe all summer, will return to New York within a few weeks and issue a challenge to play the best of the Americans. Hoppe is particularly anxious to meet Sutton, who defeated him at the Muldock Square Garden tournament eighteen months ago. On that occasion Sutton ran off the 500 points in five innings, establishing a world's record at Hoppe's expense.

Leather from Cow and Horse. The hide of a cow produces about 35 pounds of leather, that of a horse about 18 pounds.

His Ear to the Ground.

"Do you expect people to believe all that you tell them?" "That is not the idea," answered the sagacious campaigner. "The way to win the hearts of the people is to tell them what they already believe."

Fish as Coin.

Fish are occasionally used as coin on the west coast of Newfoundland, one dried cod being considered worth a half-penny, and a large lobster a penny.

Working Him.

"They certainly are working that boy too hard at college," mused the fond papa, as he thoughtfully signed up another check for his industrious son.

Aggravating.

Isn't it aggravating when you're reading a man's newspaper over his shoulder to have him turn the page before you can get to the end of the story?—Detroit Free Press.

Only Wants a Chance.

Give the practical politician all the rope he desires, and there is no business or enterprise that he will not tie up.

Lost Time is Lost Eternity.

How mankind differs from day to day the best it can do, and the most beautiful things it can enjoy, without thinking that every day may be the last one, and that lost time is lost eternity!—Max Muller.

FLEEK'S ANNEX

Owing to the constant increase in our Jewelry Dep't. and the crowded condition of our store, we have decided to close out our Art Department and hereafter continue with Jewelry and Music alone. This conclusion has been reached with no small amount of regret as this department of business has always been one of the most remunerative and pleasant. With the fact before us that we must have more room to properly display our Jewelry Department we have cleared out part of our piano room and for a few weeks will devote it to the Art Goods as an annex to our store. We will place in this room the entire line of Pictures and Frames of all kinds, Vases, Potteries, Statuary, China, Glass Writing Sets, Smoking Sets, Japanese Goods, Brass Goods, Water Color Paintings, Bric-a-brac and many other articles.

For the purpose of closing these goods out quick we will make a bonafide reduction of

1-3 to 1-2 of Former Prices.

This will be a treat for the public, as you all well know what a high class line we have always carried. These goods will make the finest of Christmas presents and we advise you to call at once and make your selections and goods will be held for you until Christmas if you wish.

Sale Opens Wednesday Morning

"FLEEK'S"